COL. THEODORE ROOSEVELT IS SHOT BY AN ASSASSIN

Library of Congress

Fired Upon as He Started to Auditorium in Milwaukee by Man Demented on Subject of Third Term —Speaks With Bullet in His Body—Manuscript in His Pocket Probably Saved His Life—The Assailant Caught.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was shot in the breast by an assassin as he entered an automobile in front of the Hotel Gilpatrick, to start for an auditorium where he was to speak tonight. The shooting was done by a man evidently insane. Colonel Roosevelt insisted on going to the hall, and there quieted the crowd that had heard he had been shot, speaking from 8:20 until 9:45 o'clock, though apparently weak, and then was taken to an emergency hospital.

Physicians do not know how badly he is hurt and have decided to use the X-ray.

The bullet struck a roll of manuscript of his speech delivered tonight, and this probably saved his life. After an hour's questioning, the assassin gave his name as John Schrank, of 370 East Tenth street, New York. From notes found in the prisoner's clothes, it is evident he is demented on the subject of Colonel Roosevelt running for a third term.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—Theodore Roosevelt was shot in the breast here tonight by an unidentified man. The extent of the injury is unknown. With a bullet in his body, Colonel Roosevelt went to the auditorium to make his speech. He refused to permit physicians to examine the wound until he had finished his speech.

At 9:10 he was still speaking, although weak from loss of blood.

Colonel Roosevelt's physician refused to express an opinion whether the Colonel was seriously hurt until he had examined the wound.

Colonel Roosevelt saw his assailant arrested and taken to the police station.

Henry F. Cochems seized the man, and held him until policemen came up. A mob surged around the prisoner, who apparently is mentally upset on the subject of Roosevelt's running for another term as President.

The man who is small of statue, admitted firing the shot, and said that "any man looking for a third term ought to be shot."

In notes found in the man's pockets at the police station, was a statement that the assailant had been visited in a dream by the spirit of William McKinley, who had said, indicating Colonel Roosevelt, "this is my murderer, avenge my death."

It is believed Roosevelt's injury is not serious. The Colonel felt no pain at the time the shot was fired and was not aware he was shot until he was on the way to the auditorium. His attention was then called to a hole in his overcoat and he found his shirt was soaked with blood. He insisted he was not badly hurt. A superficial examination was made when he reached the auditorium and three physicians agreed he was in no immediate danger.

Colonel Roosevelt's life probably was saved by a manuscript of the speech which he delivered tonight. The bullet struck the manuscript, which retarded its force as it passed through into the flesh. His assailant was prevented from firing a second shot by Albert H. Martin, one of Colonel Roosevelt's two secretaries. Colonel Roosevelt had just stepped into an automobile when the would-be assassin pushed his way through the crowd in the street and fired. Martin, who was standing in the car with the Colonel, leaped onto the man's shoulders and bore him to the ground. Captain A. O. Girard, of Milwaukee, who was on the front seat, jumped almost at the same time and in an instant the man was overpowered and disarmed.

A wild cry of "lynch him" went up. Colonel Roosevelt spoke to the people and told them to spare the man, who then was taken into the hotel and held there until he was removed to the police station.

In spite of the entreaties of physicians, Colonel Roosevelt insisted upon delivering his address.

"I'll make this speech or die, one or the other," he said.

Henry F. Cochems, one of the Wisconsin Progressive leaders, told the great crowd assembled in the auditorium that Colonel Roosevelt had been shot and asked the people to be calm. The crowd was thrown almost into a panic by the announcement, but Colonel Roosevelt calmed the people by rising and assuring them he was not badly hurt. Then he began his address. Several times he seemed to be wrowing weak and members of his party rose to help him. He motioned them to sit down.

"Let me alone, I'm all right," he said.

The shooting occurred in the street in front of the hotel Gilpatrick. Col. Roosevelt reached Milwaukee shortly after 5 o'clock and making his way through the crowd which had gathered at the station, entered an automobile and was driven to the hotel. He took dinner in a private dining room with members of the party on his private car.

After dinner Col. Roosevelt went to his room on the second floor of the hotel and shortly before 8 o'clock he started for the auditorium. His automobile stood in front of the door and about it was a big crowd waiting to catch a glimpse of the colonel as he started off.

With the colonel were Phillip Roosevelt, a young cousin, Mr. Cochems, Mr. Martin and Capt. Girard.

The crowd pressed close about the colonel and gave a cheer as he appeared. As the party approached the automobile, Col. Roosevelt's companions stood aside and he stepped into the car. Martin entered directly behind him and sat on the further side of the car.

Colonel Roosevelt stood up waving his hat in answer to the cheers of the crowd. The assassin was standing in the crowd a few feet from the automobile. He pushed his way to the side of the car and raising his gun fired.

Martin leaped over the car a second after the bullet sped on its way.

Colonel Roosevelt barely moved as the shot was fired.

Before the crowd knew what had happened Martin, who is six feet tall and a former football player, had landed squarely on the would-be assassin's shoulders and had borne him to the ground. He threw his right arm about the man's neck with a death-like grip and with his left arm seized the hand that held the revolver. In another second he had disarmed him.

Colonel Roosevelt stood calmly looking on as though nothing had happened. Martin picked the man up as though he were a child and carried him the few feet which separated them from the car almost to the side of the Colonel.

"Here he is," said Martin, "look at him Colonel."

All this happened within a few seconds and Colonel Roosevelt stood gazing rather curiously at the man who attempted his life before the stunned crowd realized what was going on. Then a howl of rage went up.

"Lynch him! Kill him!" cried a hundred men.

The crowd pressed in on them and Martin and Girard, who had followed Martin over the side of the automobile, were caught with their prisoner in the midst of a struggling throng of maddened men. It seemed for the moment that he would be torn to pieces and it was Colonel Roosevelt himself who intervened in his behalf.

He raised his hand and motioned to the crowd to fall back.

"Stop, stop!" he cried. "Stand back, don't hurt him."

The men in the crowd at first were not disposed to head his words, but at length fell back and permitted Martin and Captain Girard to carry the man into the hotel.

After a short struggle the assassin gave up and was carried without resistance out of the reach of the crowd.

"Are you hurt, Colonel?" a hundred voices called out.

"Oh, no," he responded with a smile. "Missed me that time. I'm not hurt a bit."

"I think we'd better be going on," he said to the other members of his party, "or we will be late."

No one in the party, including Colonel Roosevelt himself, entertained the slightest notion that the Colonel had been shot. He felt no shock or pain at the time and it was assumed that the bullet went wild. As soon as Colonel Roosevelt had assured himself the assassin was safe in the hands of the police, he gave orders to drive on to the auditorium.

They had driven hardly one of the four blocks from the hotel to the auditorium when John McGrath, another of Colonel Roosevelt's secretaries, uttered a sharp exclamation and pointed to the Colonel's breast. "Look, Colonel," he said, "there is a hole in your overcoat."

Colonel Roosevelt loked down, saw the hole, then unbuttoned the big brown army overcoat which he was wearing and thrust his hand beneath it. When he withdrew it his fingers were stained with blood.

Colonel Roosevelt was not dismayed by his discovery.

"It looks as though I had been hit," he said, "but I don't think it is anything serious."

Dr. Scurry Terrell, of Dallas, Texas, Colonel Roosevelt's physician, who had entered the automobile just before it started off, insisted that the Colonel return to the hotel. He paid no attention to the suggestion, however, and the car was driven on to the auditorium.

As soon as they reached the building Colonel Roosevelt was taken into a dressing room and his outer garments removed. Dr. Terrell, with the help of two other doctors, who were in the auditorium, and came to the dressing room on a call from the platform, made a superficial examination. They agreed it was impossible to hazard a guess as to the extent of the Colonel's injuries and that he should by all means go at once to the hospital.

"I will deliver this speech or die, one or the other," was Colonel Roosevelt's reply.

Despite the protests of his physicians the Colonel strode out of the dressing room and onto the stand. A large crowd packed into the big building cheered loudly as he entered and without a word to indicate what had happened went to his seat. For several minutes, no man of whom suspected that the Colonel bore a bullet in his body, kept up its cheering.

Then Mr. Cochems stepped to the front of the platform and held up his hand. There was something in his manner which had its effect upon the crowd and the cheering died suddenly away.

"I have something to tell you," said Mr. Cochems, "and I hope you will receive the news with calmness. His voice shook as he spoke and a death-like stillness settled over the throng.

"Colonel Roosevelt has been shot. He is wounded."

He spoke in a low tone, but such was the stillness that everyone heard him. A cry of astonishment and horror went up from the crowd which was thrown into confusion in an instant. Mr. Cochems turned and looked inquiringly at Colonel Roosevelt. "Tell us are you hurt?"

"Tell us, are you hurt?"

Men and women shouted wildly. Some of them rose from their seats and rushed forward to look more closely at the colonel.

Col. Roosevelt rose and walked to the edge of the platform to quiet the crowd. He raised his hand and instantly there was silence.

"It's true," he said. Then slowly he unbuttoned his coat and placed his hand on his breast. Those in the front of the crowd could catch sight of the blood stained garment. "I'm going to ask you to be very quiet," said Col. Roosevelt, "and please excuse me from giving you a very long speech. I'll do the best I can, but you see there's a bullet in my body. But it's nothing. I'm not hurt badly."

The crowd gave an outburst of tumultuous cheering. Thoroughly reassured by the colonel's action that he was in no serious danger, the people settled back into their seats to hear his speech.

Col. Roosevelt began to speak in a firm voice, somewhat lower than his usual tone and except that his chief gestures were less emphatic than usual, there was nothing to see about the man to indicate his condition. After he had been speaking a few moments, however, his voice sank somewhat and he seemed to stand rather unsteadily. Dr. Terrell and Col. Lyon stepped up to him and the doctor insisted that he stop.

"I'm going to finish this speech," said the colonel emphatically.

The colonel continued his speech evidently with increasing effort. Then he was rushed to his automobile and to the emergency hospital.

The operating room had been placed in readiness to receive Col. Roosevelt and six of the leading surgeons of Milwaukee were awaiting his arrival.

Col. Roosevelt was undressed and placed on the operating table, although he insisted that he was not badly hurt and the doctors were taking it too seriously. An examination of the wound showed that it had been made by a bullet of large size. It entered the fleshy part of the right breast, halfway between the collar bone and lower rib. The physicians found that they knew no more after their examination than before as to the location of the bullet, and it was decided to send for an X-ray machine to determine where the missile had penetrated.

While he was waiting for the X-ray machine Col. Roosevelt sat upon the operating table and talked politics and joked with the physicians.

In the meantime, hidden away in an inner room in the police station, Col. Roosevelt's assailant was being subjected to a rigid examination. He refused stubbornly to give an account of himself and would say nothing except that "I will tell you tomorrow."

After a long siege, however, the police forced from him the statement that he was John Schrenck, of 370 East Tenth street, New York.

Clippings found in the man's pockets showed he had studied Col. Roosevelt's itinerary carefully with the evident intention of selecting the place at which he might accomplish what he had in mind. It was said at the Gilpatrick hotel while Col. Roosevelt was at dinner, a short dark man about 40 years old, made four attempts to gain admission to the dining room, being turned away each time. Those who saw him said that he bore no resemblance to Schrenck. From this circumstance the report gained currency that two men were engaged in the attempt to take Col. Roosevelt's life. The police tonight were unable to gain any evidence to bear out this theory.

TAFT IS PLEASED WITH U. S. ARMADA

The President and Sec. Myer Inspect Great Fleet of Iron Clads

THE BIG GUNS BOOM SALUTE

Taft Issues Formal Statement and Says American Navy Is Now Stronger and More Efficient Than Ever.

New York, Oct. 14.—President Taft stood on the bridge of the Mayflower today with Secretary of the Navy Meyer beside him and inspected a fleet of war vessels upon whose like no other President of the United States has ever gazed. For 15 miles up the Hudson river, he passed before the armada of iron-clads. Most of the journey was made between a double line of cruisers and battleships and all the way from 31st street to within hailing distance of Yonkers the cannonade of a President's salute swept over the water.

"Well," the President said as he left the bridge, after the Mayflower had returned to her anchorage, "everybody ought to be proud of that fleet."

Naval attaches of Great Britain, Germany, Japan, Italy and half a score of other nations sat with the President and watched the panorama of fighting ships.

The Mayflower, bearing the President and Mr. Meyer, headed up stream shortly after 2 o'clock. During the forenoon Secretary Meyer had inspected the fleet from the Dolphin. The smoke of the fleet's salute to him still hung in a sea over the water when the flagship Connecticut bellowed a Presidential salute of 21 guns. Then, as the Mayflower steamed northwest, each battleship on the starboard and each cruiser to port, volleyed the long salute as the Presidential yacht came abreast. For two hours the cannonade kept up till the lowly smoke rested like a fog on the tide.

Several boats convoyed the Mayflower. Directly behind the Presidential yacht steamed the gunboat Dolphin and in her wake there came a harbor boat flying the flag of Mayor Gaynor.

Next came the gunboat Nashville, with newspaper men aboard, followed by the Hendrick-Hudson, bearing the citizens' committee and their guests.

Early in the day the Nashville had escaped, by a narrow margin, collision with the mine layer San Francisco, laden with 90 thousand pounds of explosives intended for charging mines. The President was so gratified and pleased with the showing made by the 123 vessels and their 28,000 men that he issued a formal statement expressing his pleasure. It reads in part:

"My inspection of the mobilized fleet in comparison with the force assembled last year, assures me that the navy is now in a decidedly stronger and more efficient condition than a year ago. This is a direct result of the reorganization which has increased the efficiency of the navy by co-operation of all the departments and officers of the fleet."

Tomorrow the fleet will weigh anchor and steam out of the harbor. President Taft will review it from the Mayflower anchored near the Statute of Liberty, as it passes out.

OUTLINES

Upwards of $400,000 was contributed to the pre-convention campaign funds of Wilson, Harmon and Underwood, according to witnesses at the Senate committee's hearing yesterday. Wm. McCombs, Gov. Wilson's manager, accounted for $298,000 of the Wilson fund.

The New York Giants batted O'Brien out of the box in the first inning of yesterday's game, the sixth of the world's series, and defeated the Bostons 5 to 2. Boston now needs one game and New York two, and Mathewson and Wood will be the opposing boxmen in today's crucial contest.

Col. Roosevelt was shot by an assassin last night in Milwaukee, Wis., while on his way to an auditorium to make a speech, and although weak from the loss of blood finished his speech and was carried to a hospital. He is not thought to be seriously injured. The would-be assassin was captured and is apparently demented over the subject of a third term.

Two Chinese and two white men were killed last night in a tong war in Chinatown, New York.

"Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon testified at the Becker trial yesterday and both corroborated Jack Rose's story of the murder plot and killing of Rosenthal. On account of threats against Judge Goff, all gangsters were barred from the court room.

President Taft and Secretary of the Navy Meyer yesterday inspected the fleet of American battleships anchored in the Hudson river.

M'COMBS ACCOUNTS FOR WILSON FUND

Governor's Manager Testifies His Nomination Cost Over $200,000.

OTHER MANAGERS ON STAND

Upwards of $400,000 Expended by Wilson, Harmon and Underwood—Ryan Was Large Contributor To Funds of Latter Two

Washington, Oct. 14.—Upwards of $400,000 was expended in the efforts of Governor Woodrow Wilson, Governor Judson Harmon and Representative Oscar Underwood to gain the Democratic Presidential nomination this year, according to testimony today presented to the Senate campaign investigation committee.

William McCombs, who managed the Wilson campaign, and his aide, William McAdoo, accounted for $208,193. Of this sum $85,800 was contributed, according to Mr. McCombs, by "Cleveland S. Dodge and Princeton friends." Questioning developed that the "friends" were Cyrus H. McCormick, of the International Harvester Company; David B. Jones, Thomas D. Jones and Edward W. Sheldon, all of whom, Mr. McCombs said, had been trustees at Princeton when Mr. Wilson was president of the University.

Of the $159,096.45 expended in the interest of Governor Harmon, Hugh L. Nichols, Lieutenant Governor of that State, told the committee $77,000 was contributed by Thomas Fortune Ryan. Mr. Ryan also supplied $35,000 of a fund of $52,000 collected for the advancement of Representative Underwood's candidacy. Mr. Ryan will be a witness before the committee this week, probably tomorrow.

Alton B. Parker, Democratic candidate for President in 1904, gave his basis for the charge, made on the stump in that campaign, that financial "interests" had organized a committee to secure funds for and give support to the Republican ticket. He said the late Colonel Daniel S. Lamont gave him the information. He was corroborated by George F. Parker, who managed the Democratic Literary Bureau in 1904.

Mr. McCombs, the first witness of the day, was particularly emphatic in the declaration that none of the contributions to Governor Wilson's campaign fund reflected "any promise, expressed or implied." He said he believed his accounts represented practically all expenditures for Governor Wilson except $6,575, accounted for by Mr. McAdoo, who supplemented the testimony of his chief.

Lieutenant Governor Nichols told the committee that Governor Harmon contributed tremendously to his own campaign. He said $122,000 had been collected, but the expenditures amounted to $146,000 in the National campaign and Governor Harmon supplied the difference. The principal contributors mentioned in Mr. Nichol's statement were: R. M. Thompson, $3,000; Representative Frances Burton Harrison, $5,000; E. C. Wheeler, $8,500; J. F. Fanning, $500; William Dudley $2,500; Thomas F. Ryan, $77,000, and James J. Hill, $15,000. Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, a member of the investigating committee, was credited with a contribution of $250 in the account.

Under examination Mr. Nichols brought out that it had been charged in the campaign that J. P. Morgan & Company and the Standard Oil Company had contributed to the Harmon fund.

"Not a dollar was received from either," he declared.

Senator John A. Bankhead outlined to the committee expenditures in behalf of Representative Underwood. The contributors mentioned in his statement were: Thomas F. Ryan, $35,000; Joseph Auerbach, $7,500; S. R. Bertram, $2,500; J. H. Woodward, $2,500; small contributions amounting to $2,000 brought the fund up to $52,000.

Frederick C. Penfield, of Philadelphia, testified that his contributions to the Wilson fund amounted to $12,000. This corroborated Mr. McComb's accounts. Senator Dixon, of the Roosevelt forces, on the stand before the committee last week said his information was that Mr. Penfield had given the Wilson forces about $48,000. Mr. Penfield declared no other member of his family made contributions, although Senator Dixon had said the $48,000 gift might have been in the name of Mrs. Penfield.

"BRIDGIE" WEBBER TELLS OF MURDER

Self-Confessed Accomplice Corroborates "Bald Jack" Rose's Story.

VALLON IMPLICATES BECKER

Evidence Brought Out Shows That Gaynor's Attention Was Called To Becker's Alleged Partnership With Rosenthal

New York, Oct. 14.—"Bald Jack" Rose's story of how former Police Lieutenant Becker plotted the murder of Herman Rosenthal was corroborated on the witness stand today by "Bridgie" Webber and Harry Vallon, self-confessed accomplices in the crime. Webber went further. He swore Becker told him that on the night of the murder he would have killed Rosenthal himself if he had seen him. The former lieutenant declared "Bridgie," said he had slowed down his automobile while passing the Hotel Cadillac on Broadway, in case Rosenthal might be loitering there.

"If I had seen him, I would have backed him up against the wall and shot him," Becker said, according to Webber.

Rose's testimony that Becker had demanded that Rosenthal be "croaked," that he had given the gunmen assurances of protection and said ne would have liked to "cut Rosenthal's tongue out and hang it up as a warning to future squealers," was corroborated by Webber and Vallon like an echo. The similarity of their stories to that of "Bald Jack" prompted John W. Hart, attorney for the defense, to ask Vallon how many times he had rehearsed his story.

"Never," said Vallon.

Both witnesses told their stories cooly and could not be shaken on cross-examination. Both said they had been granted immunity, but not "if they would testify against Becker."

"I was promised protection if I would tell the truth," each insisted, Webber adding, "and if I did not fire one of the shots that killed Rosenthal."

That the attention of Mayor Gaynor had been called as early as last March to Becker's alleged partnership in Rosenthal's gambling house, was one of the features of the day's testimony. Memoranda were produced by a clerk of the police department, showing that Mayor Gaynor had turned over to the police commissioner a letter charging Becker "was getting richer than Devery (former Police Commissioner Devery) out of gambling graft. The mayor, it appeared from the correspondence, had ordered a search made for the writer which had proved unsuccessful and Becker had been ordered to explain the charges. Becker entered a general denial and characterized Jack Rose as a tool who was "giving him useful information."

Prompted by threats against his own life, Justice Goff took drastic steps today to exclude gangsters and gunmen from the court room. The justice admitted tonight he had received such threats both by letter and telephone, and added that he had noted attempts in the court room to intimidate witnesses.

He gave orders to exclude all persons "acting suspiciously" or recognized as gangsters, and required that persons having business in the court be admitted only by a special pass."

"If this is not sufficient," Justice Goff declared, "I will have the sheriff fill the court room with armed deputies."

The justice was escorted to his home tonight by two uniformed policemen.

NO EGGS FOR THREE WEEKS.

Battle Cry of 40,000 Boycotters in Cleveland for Crusade.

Cleveland, Oct. 14.—"No eggs for three weeks", is the battle cry of about 40,000 boycotters in Cleveland and northern Ohio, who today entered upon a campaign of abstention in the hope of lowering the price.

Saturday strictly fresh eggs were quoted here at 43 cents a dozen. Thirty cents a dozen is the limit the boycotters have set and they say the won't buy unless the price scales off to that point.

The Thirty-Cent Egg Club, which, for two years has wielded an effective boycott against sky prices has 20,000 members and at least that many more sympathizers who will join in abstaining.

TRIAL POSTPONED

Hillsboro, N. C., Oct. 14.—The trial of the four hazers charged with bringing about the death of Freshman I. W. Rand, of Smithfield, September 13th, was postponed today till the March term of Orange Superior Court. The illness of Judge H. W. Whedbee, at his home in Greenville, made it impossible for the noted case to come up at this term of court. Hillsboro court will not convene until Thursday for jail cases.

RAIN INTERFERES WITH THE CANVASS

Wilson Campaign Contributions Yesterday Rather Small but Interest Grows.

A SUBURBAN LOT DONATED

Mr. J. B. Mercer Does the Handsome Thing and Bids Are Now Invited. Mr. G. J. Boney's Substantial Contribution.

Rain and threatening weather yesterday rather interfered with committee work for the Woodrow Wilson campaign fund, but several forces were set in action that are expected to bring results later in the week.

The canvass yesterday added the novelty of the gift of a handsome suburban lot from Mr. J. B. Mercer, a well known local business man, and Mr. G. J. Boney showed his patriotism for Wilmington and his devotion to Democracy with a check for $100, which was the largest contribution during the day. Many of the committees reported substantial donations, but all told the day was rather off for general work and renewed efforts will be put forth today if the weather is favorable.

Many people in stores, shops and factories took kindly to the suggestion in Sunday's paper that they form themselves into clubs and make "community" donations to the fund. Several such clubs were started yesterday by enterprising employes of various establishments and many other clubs will be formed today according to report to Chairman McGirt. A substantial amount is expected from these club contributions from the "men and women in the ranks." This appeal is being addressed to the real freemen of America, the upright, progressive voters of the country who are doing the work of the Nation and not the work of trusts and bosses. The salvation of every righteous cause rests with the people and all must look to the Wilson standard as the only immediate hope of relief. It is the people's campaign and must be fought with the people's money.

There are big campaign expenses to be met if we are to win on election day in November. We must tell the voters of the country about Wilson, what he is, what he has done. We must show them his record. We must show them his platform. We must point out to them the features of his platform which means so much to this nation. This great work will cost a lot of money. We must meet the usual heavy toll necessary to present a platform and a candidate to a hundred million.

Your dollar, your $5, your $10, your $20 is needed. And don't mistake—we want the man who can only afford the one dollar. We need him. We need the women who can only give one dollar. We believe in this kind of loyalty—it's the kind that wins.

Let every one contribute to the Woodrow Wilson campaign. Let's have as big a fund as the corporations can supply the other parties. For the people are mightier even in money than the combinations—when they get together.

Bids Wanted for a Lot.

Now here is a chance for some one to contribute to the Wilson Campaign Fund and at the same time make a good investment. Mr. J. B. Mercer yesterday addressed the following letter to his team captain:

"Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 14.

"Jos. W. Little, Esq., Chairman of Committee, City.

"Dear Sir:—Desiring to contribute more to the Wilson-Marshall campaign fund, I hereby donate to said fund, as follows: One lot in Mercer Place, East, size 52.2x100 feet, on Harnett Avenue; with the understanding that the said lot will be sold to the highest bidder, the bids to be sent to Mr. W. A. McGirt, chairman of the General Committee, opened and published by him as said bids are received, for the benefit of this fund. The bidding to close on Friday, October 25th, 1912. The successful bidder may take his choice from any unsold lot in Mercer Place south of Block 6, and north of Block 11, East Side. I have not sold a single one of these lots for less than $100 in the last four years. The Board of County Commissioners last week adopted this avenue as a public highway and will macadamize it.

"Hoping this will swell the Wilson-Marshall Fund, I am,

"Very truly yours,

"J. B. MERCER."

This lot should not go begging, so go out and take a look at the property and mail your bid to Chairman W. A. McGirt. The result of the bidding will be published from day to day in these columns until the close.

NEW YORK WON IN FIRST INNING

Fighting in Last Trench, Marquard Repulsed Onrushing Red Sox, and Defeated Them, 5 to 2—Giants Drove Buck O'Brien to Bench, and Now Have Fighting Chance—Mathewson vs. Wood Today.

New York, Oct. 14.—Fighting in the last trench the New York Nationals repulsed the on-rushing Boston Americans today and sent them back to defeat by a score of 5 to 2, in the sixth game of the world's series. A victory for the Red Sox would have carried with it the title of world's champions of 1912, and when "Rube" Marquard walked off the Polo Grounds this afternoon after his second victory over Boston, the New Yorks took hope that the Giants might be able to capture two more games and bring the title to this city.

The world's series now stands Boston three games won; New York two games won and one contest a tie. New York, however, did not win all the victories today. On the turf just back of first base while the 30,000 spectators were leaving the grounds, Managers Stahl and McGraw tossed a coin to determine in which city the deciding game should be played in the event New York won tomorrow's game in Boston. Stahl won the toss and all the remaining games will be played on Boston's field.

President Taft, on the yacht Mayflower, kept in touch with the game by wireless while reviewing the battleship fleet in the Hudson river. The inning scores were also wigwagged from ship to ship all along the line, so that every man jack of those aboard could know the progress of the game.

All the action of the day's game came early and when the smoke of battle floated away at the end of the second inning the score stood 5 to 2 in favor of the Giants and thereafter neither side could add a tally in the face of the superb twirling of the two left handers, "Rube" Marquard and Ray Collins.

The Boston southpaw had been called to the firing line after the Giants had touched off an explosion of hits off "Jack" O'Brien's "moist" ball. The fusilade of hits came with such suddenness that for the first time in the series the Boston infield was unable to meet the attack of the New Yorkers.

Two crisp doubles, four singles and a balk by O'Brien and a double steal netted New York five runs in the first inning. Oddly enough the four singles garnered by the Giants were slow infield rollers, which on the soggy diamond were difficult to handle.

Boston made its tallies in the second on Marquard's error on Gardner's grounder, a hit by Stahl and a two-base smash by Engle, who batted for O'Brien.

"Rube" Marquard curved them over low and then sent up his fast ones around the necks of Boston batters. One of the results of Marquard's service was a great day for the Giant outfielders. The trio of gardners—Murray, Snodgrass and Devore—covered acres of ground and gobbled up no less than 15 fly balls.

Of these "Red" Murray in right, captured seven, while Snodgrass took care of six and Devore two.

The Bostons fought gamely to overcome the lead of five runs. The Red Sox made two tallies in the second, but their attack was broken in the third with a brilliant catch by Snodgrass. This play was the turning point in Boston's offense.

Stahl had made first on a hit, when Wagner drove a screaming liner to deep center. Snodgrass turned and ran toward the fence. The drive looked good for a home run and Stahl was rounding second with Wagner turning first, when Snodgrass caught the ball as it came over his shoulder. That ended Boston and with the exception of the eighth, Marquard sent the Red Sox back to the bench in one, two, three order in every inning.

Ray Collins pitched a fine game and in the seven innings the Giants faced him, not a run was scored.

"Things might have been a little different had Collins been sent in from the first," remarked Manager Stahl, "but it was a dark day, the kind that is just suited to O'Brien's fast ball. But O'Brien did not get the 'break' and we will have to try to end the series tomorrow."

"We have made the start and we expect to finish it up," said Manager McGraw today before leaving for Boston. "By winning tomorrow's game we can put Boston on the defensive and that done we will enter the last game with the advantage with New York."

While no announcement of battery selections for Tuesday's game were made before the clubs left the city it was generally believed that Wood would pitch for Boston while Mathewson, with a two days' rest, would be found on the box for New York.

The total paid attendance at today's game was 30,622 and the total receipts amounted to $66,654, of which each club received $29,994.30. The National Commission's share was $6,665.40.

New York won the game right at the start. Devore, after getting three balls and two strikes, hit a grounder to Gardner and was tossed out at first. Doyle rolled a slow bounder to Yerkes, who could not field it in time to head off Doyle and the New York runner was safe. He promptly stole second.

Snodgrass fell a victim of strikes. Murray scratched a hit to the infield, beating Wagner's fast throw to first and Doyle moved to third base on the hit. O'Brien, who had been watching the runners closely, here made a miscue that unbalanced the team for the inning and finally resulted in five runs pouring over the plate. Stepping toward first as if to make a throw he made a palpable balk in not tossing the ball to Stahl and when Captain Doyle appealed Umpire Klem waved Murray to second and brought Doyle home with the first run for New York.

Merkle smashed a two-base hit to right field and Murray came home with the second run. This started the New York fans to cheering and the din became deafening when Herzog flashed a double down by the left field foul line, sending Merkle across with the third score. "Chief" Meyers then drove a grounder at Wagner who made a pretty stop and throw after a hard run, but the Indian beat the ball to first.

Herzog was held at third on the play. O'Brien seemed unsteady and Herzog and Meyers tried a double steal and got away with it. Cady shot the ball to Yerkes, who in returning it to the plate, trying to head off Herzog, threw a little wide and Meyers went to third. Fletcher also tapped an infield hit and Meyers came home with New York's fifth and last run. There was great joy in the stands and the fans cheered for several minutes. Fletcher took a big lead off first and O'Brien snapped the ball to Stahl and the New York shortstop was out on a close decision, ending the biggest inning of the present world's series.

The Red Sox made their only scores in the second inning. Gardner opened by chopping a grounder to Marquard, who juggled the ball long enough to permit the Red Sox third baseman to beat his throw to first. Stahl sent a solid single to center, advancing Gardner to second. Wagner struck out and Catcher Cady sent up a high fly that fell into the big glove of Meyers.

Engle, the utility infielder and pinch hitter, was sent in to bat for O'Brien and he brought joy to the Red Sox rooters by lacing a two-bagger to left field. Gardner easily scored on the drive and Stahl also crossed the plate when Devore made two or three stabs to pick up the ball, he being charged with an error. This ended all the scoring for the day. Hooper fouled out to Meyers.

Ray Collins, the left hander, went in to pitch for Boston in the second half and held the Giants scoreless during the remainder of the game.

D. B. PAUL FOR CONGRESS.

(Charlotte Observer.)

At a meeting of the Ninth Congressional District Republicans, held in Hickory yesterday afternoon, Mr. D. B. Paul, a prominent attorney of this city, was named as the Congressional candidate for the Republican party from the Ninth district.

The selection was made after the party assembled had declined to consider the name of John A. Smith, of Bessemer City, who had been endorsed as the candidate on the Progressive ticket.

Mr. Paul was named on the old-line party ticket of the Republicans recently in Charlotte as a candidate for the Legislature. He announced last night that he would withdraw his name from the legislative ticket and enter the fight in opposition to Mr. Webb, the Democratic candidate for Congress.

Wright SELLS LOTS

And knows what he is talking about, is conservative as to values, and when it is called a BARGAIN, it is.

Sunday we advertised a Real Real Estate Bargain—the Northwest corner of Third and Market streets.

A corner lot containing two houses. Three thousand dollars is all the real cash needed—and after this the rents will keep up the interest on the mortgage. The steady and sure increase goes to the purchaser.

The man or woman with $3,000 and a faith in Wilmington's future, will make money on this property as surely as the sun shines.

To show our belief in this property, we will agree to give a purchaser his money back, plus six per cent. in one year's time.

We know he won't sell at this figure. This property is too well situated—too valuable; can be used for too many profit-paying enterprises—apartment house, church, theatre, retail store, residence, etc., to not increase twenty per cent. a year.

Particularly so—when Market street is coming back into prominence. New skyscraper bank and office building just west, new $75,000 Y. M. C. A. just east; new garage building just north of this corner, all under way and to be completed within the year.

You can't keep this property down. Don't miss the opportunity. See us quick.

TOBACCO GROWERS.

Have Reaped Rich Harvest in State This Year.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 13.—This year marks the era of the greatest period of prosperity known to the tobacco farmers of this section of the State in years. Thousands of dollars are being turned loose broadcast in the section and it will enable many farmers to pay off their obligations and to secure needed farm machinery and horses and mules.

One million pounds of tobacco were sold here last week at an average of a fraction over 17 cents a pound. This means that last week alone, the sum of $170,000 was paid out to the farmers. The meaning of the high prices may readily be seen when it is known that the usual average price paid for tobacco is 10 cents a pound. This means that $70,000 more was paid out for tobacco last week than the same tobacco brought last year.

On the above basis, it is safe to assume that the farmers of this section of the State will realize something like $500,000 more from their tobacco crop this year than last. The bright grades are the ones that are selling so high. Some estimate the bright crop at about 33 1-3 per cent. of the total crop while others think it will run as high as 50 per cent. of the total crop due to the bright weather for the past two weeks.

It is said that many farmers who have recently purchased their farms and owe small amounts on them will be able to clear themselves of all obligations by the sale of this year's tobacco crop. They will also be able to easily pay their fertilizer bills. This is a big item with the tobacco farmers.

The dumping of thousands of dollars into the adjoining counties is having a marked effect in their agricultural development and evidence of prosperity are seen on all sides. It is a great year for the tobacco growers.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 14.—Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, featherweight champion, was given the decision over Eddie O'Keefe, of New York, at the end of a fast 12-round bout here tonight. There was no knockdown. A cut was opened over Kilbane's eye when they bumped heads.

There have been many cases like the following in Wilmington. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain, straightforward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. M. E. Bordeax, 510 S. Second St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I willingly verify my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. During the past two and one-half years, I have used this remedy occasionally and it has always brought the very best of results." (Statement given on December 27th, 1910.)

The endorsement referred to by Mrs. Bordeax was in substance as follows: "I suffered from dull pains in the small of my back and some days I could hardly get about to attend to my housework. I had a kidney weakness that caused me great annoyance and I knew that a kidney medicine was needed. When I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, I at once got a supply at Bellamy's Drug Store and they restored me to good health. Another member of my family has also taken Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit."

STRIKE WILL END SOON.

Non-Unionists Continue on Electric Cars—Few People Riding.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 14.—The mediation board in the street railway strike situation will have a meeting today, when the answer of the striking carmen and the street railway company will be received to the letter sent them on Saturday in which 11 questions were asked leading up to the arbitration of the strike. It is generally believed here that the mediation board will be successful in bringing about an adjustment or bringing the parties up to a certain point when each will consent to arbitration.

Strikebreakers are running the cars as usual, and very few people are riding. Four shots were fired at a car last night, and the majority of the people deem it unsafe to ride on the cars.

President Mahon, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes, arrived here last night from Detroit, and will take personal charge of the situation, supplanting National Organizer Cornelius.

Five companies of National Guardsmen are still on duty here, and Col. O'Leary will keep them in Augusta until order is fully restored.

A Tremendous Success Now Sweeps Into the South

For three years the K-r-i-t has been a sure and certain success for every dealer and every buyer who has come in contact with it.

But it was a success limited by our production capacity.

The result, during these three years, has been that every K-r-i-t has been sold before it left the factory.

For that reason we have been unable to supply buyers, except through those dealers who were fortunate enough to have early identified themselves with the K-r-i-t line.

But, now we are in a position to make prompt deliveries, because we have largely increased our production.

This means a golden opportunity to the dealer whose experience has taught him to recognize the possibilities of a car already firmly entrenched in popular favor.

K-r-i-t character and K-r-i-t quality are an old story, and with the momentum of nation-wide success and prestige, point out the money making capacity of the K-r-i-t line.

The dealer who associates himself with the K-r-i-t now, can be swept along on the wave of K-r-i-t popularity and enthusiam.

The K-r-i-t price is all K-r-i-t value. It does not mean flashy equipment and ornamentation. It is all in the car.

It means, Mr. Dealer, that in the K-r-i-t you offer to your trade a car at $900 which in roominess, ease of riding, length of service, and power to perform, is in a class by itself.

The reason for this is that the K-r-i-t is the product of one organization; this means less cost of production and greater value in the car, with correspondingly greater satisfaction and longer service to the owner.

All main bearings in the motor and transmission are of the annular ball type, which means less friction, greater efficiency, no adjustments, and ability to outlive the car itself.

The motor, clutch, and transmission are a unit; the motor has the valves enclosed and fully protected.

Transmission and differential gears are cut from chrome nickel, the hardest and longest wearing steel.

The equipment is complete and all exterior metal parts are finished in black and nickel, sightly and stylish.

For $10 additional we equip the K-r-i-t with complete electric lighting system, which includes five lamps and 100-hour storage battery.

All models are furnished with either 56 or 60-inch tread.

K-r-i-t reputation, durability, character and value create K-r-i-t sales almost of themselves, once the K-r-i-t is introduced into a community; and no shrewd dealer will turn away from the chance to connect with an established car.

And the Company stands back of the car—with every K-r-i-t goes a written guarantee for a year.

COCAINE FIENDS IN DURHAM

Several Revolting Crimes—Observance of University Day—Notes

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Durham, N. C., Oct. 13.—The deadly cocaine habit has for the past few months been spreading with fearful rapidity among a certain class of negroes in this city, and now the narcotic has gotten such a foothold here that the getting rid of it is one of the greatest problems Durham has to face at present. A narcotic locality, known as Johnson's bottom in the southeastern section of the city, has become a regular hotbed for dope fiends, and not a week, nor scarcely a day, passes that some repulsive crime is not committed there. Each week the judge of the recorder's court sends a number of these drug stupefied brutes to the work house, but still the habit flourishes and the outrages do not diminish.

A few weeks ago, a negro named John Henry Simmons, crazed by the drug, cut his brother to death. Last week a negro man, walking in the vicinity of this district, had his skull crushed by a rock hurled by an unseen assassin. The latest outrage took place Saturday evening, when Alice Bynum, a young negro woman of that section was shot by her "man," James Goodlowe. The negro who did the shooting has not yet been caught, and the girl lies at her home dangerously wounded.

The only apparent reason for the shooting, and the one given by the wounded girl, is that Goodlowe was jealous of another man, who had been seen on the street with the Bynum woman. Filling upon blind tiger liquor and a quantity of "coke," Goodlowe started for the woman's house with the avowed intention of getting even. He found her sitting on the floor sewing. She paid little attention to his threats and abusive language, but continuing calmly with her work. Whereupon, he pulled out his gun and shot her twice in succession, both shots taking effect in the leg. He then became frightened and ran for a colored doctor, who lived nearby; after which he vanished and is still invisible to all the efforts the police have put forth in finding him.

Saturady was University Day, and the alumni of that institution of Durham and the surrounding vicinity celebrated the day in an informal smoker which took place Saturday night in the rooms of the Commonwealth Club. Before refreshments were served, a short business meeting was held, being called to order by Mr. W. J. Brogden. A committee was appointed by the chairman to express the congratulations of the local alumni association to President Venable for the capable manner in which he has conducted the affairs of the institution during the many years of his successful administration.

For the coming year Mr. W. D. Carmichael was elected president of the local association; Mr. William Parsley, vice president, and James Manning, Jr., secretary and treasurer. The association at this meeting began preparations for some useful work for the University, to be carried out by this new administration. A committee was appointed to make investigations and report at the next meeting of the association, which is subject to the call of the president, ways and means by which individual associations of the State might extend the sphere of influence of the university in the community and thus broaden the sympathy of the community for the institution and bring the State's highest educational institution into a closer relationship with the people, who pay for its upkeep. On this committee the following were appointed: Dr. J. M. Manning, Messrs. W. D. Carmichael, J. S. Manning, Jr., R. H. Sykes and Judge Paul C. Graham.

RISE IN BANK RATE.

Turkish Invasion of Servia Was the Principal Cause.

London, Oct. 14.—Indications point to an immediate rise in the British bank rate to 5 per cent. The Bank of England today discounted bills at 4 1-2, and later at 5 per cent., while the open market rates rose to 4 13-16. The Turkish invasion of Servia was the principal cause of this movement, while the sharp decline in Paris sterling exchange on London and the anticipated foreign gold demand had a bad effect on speculative stocks. The tone of the stock exchange improved and the foreign market was easier.

KINSTON NOTES.

Second District Republicans—Plantation Sold—Other News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 14.—The standpat Republicans of the Second Congressional district, in session here, nominated Thomas Brad. Brown, of this city, for Congress, and J. Frank Lyles, of Tarboro, for elector. T. B. Brown was made chairman of the Congressional executive committee and W. J. Jordan, of Snow Hill, secretary.

As a result of a collision between two buggies at the corner of Heritage and Blount streets in this city, Miss Lillian Waters, of Falling Creek, was painfully hurt. Miss Waters and her sister, Miss Clyde Waters, were being driven by their uncle, Mr. Geo. T. Sullivan, to the Norfolk Southern depot, and the injured girl was sitting in the lap of her sister, thus partly cutting off the view of Mr. Sullivan. A careless negro driver, approaching from the opposite direction, sideswiped the vehicle in which the three were riding, dishing one wheel and throwing the young lady violently to the ground. She was badly bruised about the face. Both buggies were being driven at a fast gait, and it was considered fortunate that more serious damage was not incurred.

The famous Ravenswood plantation, in Jones county, has recently been purchased by W. S. Chadwick, of Beaufort, T. A. Uzzell, John W. Stewart and C. E. Foy, of Newbern. The property contains about 18,000 acres of land, and is one of the largest farms in the East. It is located about two miles south of Pollocksville, and near Trent river. The Wilmington and Newbern line of the Atlantic Coast Line runs through the plantation, with a railroad station on the place. A creek which runs through Ravenswood empties into the Trent river a short distance east of Pollocksville, with 17 feet of water in the river at that point. Ravenswood for many years has been considered a very fertile and desirable property, and is capable of producing large crops. It is understood that the present owners will develop and operate the property.

Dr. J. M. Parrott left tonight for Richmond, to attend the meeting of the A. C. L. Surgeons' Association, which meets tomorrow. Dr. Parrott is the president of the association, which is the largest similar organization in the South. He delivers the president's address tomorrow morning.

Sheriff A. D. Warren, of Greene county, arrested William Jones, colored, while engaged in the operation of a still in the Castoria section of that county. Jones is an old offender, and had been off the roads but a few weeks after serving time for a similar offense. The negro was tracked down and his still, a 200-gallon affair, destroyed. A small posse, headed by the sheriff, followed Jones from the home of a friend, and when they caught him the still was in active operation.

There were two public meetings in this county yesterday in behalf of the building fund for the Lenoir gift dormitory to the Kennedy Memorial Home at Falling Creek. One meeting at Union Church in Trent township was addressed by John G. Dawson, of Kinston, and the other at Pine Grove in Neuse township, was addressed by Rev. C. W. Blanchard, pastor of the First Baptist church, of this city.

CAPT. D. O. BRYAN DEAD.

One of Moore County's Honored Citizens Answers the Call.

Sanford, N. C., Oct. 14.—Saturday afternoon, at his residence near here, Capt. Daniel O. Bryan died after an illness of several months. Capt. Bryan was in his 78th year. He was a captain in the Confederate Army, and was one of Lee county's most honored and influential citizens. For many years he was chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Moore. He was a prominent member of the First Baptist church of Jonesboro, a Mason of high standing and prominent in both the financial and social life of this section. The funeral was held from the First Baptist church of Jonesboro Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Mr. Willis, pastor of the Baptist church, assisted by Rev. A. W. Shaw of the Jonesboro Presbyterian church. He was buried with Masonic honors, members of both Sanford and Jonesboro lodges being present and assisting in the services. Interment was in the family burial plat at Buffalo cemetery. Besides a grief-stricken wife he leaves an only daughter, Miss Eva Bryan, who was with him to the end.

HOW TO RESIST

Chronic Coughs and Colds

Strong, vigorous men and women hardly ever catch cold; it's only when the system is run down and vitality low that colds and coughs get a foothold.

Now isn't it reasonable that the right way to cure a cough is to build up your run down condition again?

Mrs. Olivia Parham, of East Durham, N. C., says: "I took Vinol for a chronic cough which had lasted two years and the cough not only disappeared, but it built up my strength as well."

The reason Vinol is so efficacious in such cases is because it contains in a delicious concentrated form all the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil, with tonic, blood building iron added.

Chronic coughs and colds yield to Vinol because it builds up the weakened, run down system.

You can get your money back any time if Vinol does not do all we say. Robt. R. Bellamy, druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

UNIVERSITY DAY.

Oxford Alumni Join in Observance—Politics in Granville.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Oxford, N. C., Oct. 14.—Seventeen Granville county alumni of the University of North Carolina met at the Exchange Hotel to celebrate University day, October 12th. The secretary of the local association, F. M. Pinnix, had arranged for a banquet to be followed by a number of short talks on subjects connected with the University. Judge A. W. Graham, president of the association, spoke on the subject of the University man as a leader in his community. F. W. W. Hancock, one of the trustees, spoke on the privileges and advantages of a university training. Dr. J. A. Morris told of the university alumni in the medical profession; R. H. Lewis of the business man. John Webb spoke of the duties and responsibilities resting on those who have had the advantages of a university training, and Capt. W. A. Devin, who formerly represented the college on the football team, talked interestingly on athletics. Dr. N. M. Ferrebee closed this delightful series of toasts on loyalty to the University.

John Webb was elected president for the following year and F. M. Pinnix secretary.

The county candidates have just started out on the political campaign. Granville is so overwhelmingly Democratic that local conditions attract little attention. In fact, it is a hard matter for the Republicans to find men enough to run for the county offices. Several who were nominated during their absence from the county convention held here last week will not accept the nomination. The Senatorial contest on the other hand has reached a most acute stage. The Kitchin and Simmons forces are lined up in a sharply drawn battle array and much feeling is being aroused. The local paper has kindled quite an outblaze of opposition by its extremely partisan attitude.

DEATH NEAR SANFORD.

Mr. Jno. W. Brown Passes—Funeral With Masonic Honors.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Sanford, N. C., Oct. 14.—The funeral of the late John W. Brown, who died Saturday, was held from Popular Springs Methodist church, near here Sunday afternoon, conducted by the Rev. R. W. Bailey, of Littleton, N. C. Interment was in the family burial plat.

Mr. Brown was born in Chatham county 53 years ago, and has made his home in Sanford for a number of years, he was a prominent contractor and builder and many residences in this section are monument to his craft. He was a member of Sanford Masonic Lodge No. 69, and the Masons attended his funeral in a body. Mr. Brown had been in failing health for some time and the end was not unexpected. Besides his grief-stricken wife he leaves four children, two brothers and four sisters.

A Cure From The Forest

Nature in her wisdom and beneficence has provided, in her great vegetable laboratory, the forest, a cure for most of the ills and ailments of humanity. Work and study have perfected the compounding of these botanical medicines and placed them at our disposal. We rely upon them first because of their ability in curing disease, and next because we can use them with the confidence that such remedies do not injure the system.

PURELY S.S.S VEGETABLE

Among the best of these remedies from the forest is S. S. S., a medicine made entirely of roots, herbs and barks in such combination as to make it the greatest of all blood purifiers and the safest of all tonics. It does not contain the least particle of harmful mineral. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Malaria, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison and all other diseases dependent on impure blood. As a tonic S. S. S. builds up the system by supplying a sufficient amount of vigor and nourishment to the body. S. S. S. always cures without leaving any unpleasant or injurious effects. It is perfectly safe for young or old. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

Tuesday, October 15, 1912.

The square deal is not generally handed around.

The campaigners are on the last three weeks' stretch of the campaign.

Today, three weeks, the Republic will elect a new President named Wilson.

During the next three weeks the sober second thought of the voters of the United States will reassert itself.

The reason we do not smoke any two cent cigars in this country is because we pay five cents for them.

Senator Aldrich is lucky for not being in the limelight in this campaign. He got "his" and knew when it was time to retire.

The Columbia State boned the Hon. Cone Johnson for watermelons. A hint for ice cream might have got something from Cone.

T. R. says he is the target of both the old parties and that he is the "naked issue." That is no joke. It is said he isn't even clothed in his right mind.

A scientist predicts another age of ice. It will begin on the 5th of November with a great frost for the two special privilege candidates for President.

Dr. Mary Walker, who goes right on dressing like a man, declares that Woodrow Wilson will make the best President. Dr. Mary is now talking like a man.

William Sulzer, the Democratic nominee in New York, declared in a speech that he is subject to no boss. He may fool some of the people, but not the people who have seen the picture of his pretty wife.

The originality of Governor Marshall, the Democratic nominee for Vice President, is one of the refreshing features of the campaign. He says Roosevelt divorced the Republican party on the ground of non-support.

Says the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot: "A Philadelphian claims to have discovered the elixir of life, but down in North Carolina they have been extracting it from corn, for lo, these many years." Futile attempts at it have been made in Virginia, but in order to make it go it is labeled "Old Stokes County Corn."

In a recent speech in Tennessee, Governor Hooper, the Republican Governor of that State, was called a thief because he sanctioned the nomination of President Taft. It is not necessary to say who called the Governor a thief, for everybody remembers that Colonel Roosevelt spoke in Tennessee during his recent trip through the South on his return from the West.

Taft favors continuance of the protective tariff, with the question taken out of the hands of Congress and placed in the keeping of a tariff board. Roosevelt favors continuance of protection in the same way, with the exception that he tries to get votes by saying that some way ought to be designed by which more of it would go into the pay envelope of the working man. In the meantime, the working men know who makes up the pay envelope and that they not only do not get their share of protection, but that they bear their proportionate share of high prices to support the very industries in which they are employed. The working man has learned to know that even if he got his share of protection he would have to pay it right back on account of the high cost of living. Thus the benefits would go right back where it is intended for them to stay—with the manufacturers.

"PLAIN AS A PIKE STAFF"

The above is the subject of an interesting and suggestive editorial in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot whose able editor is one of the South's closest students of political economy. Our esteemed Norfolk contemporary refers to the Census Bureau report for the year ended August 31st, showing that during the twelve months preceding, the cotton growing States spun in their mills a greater number of bales of the staple than all the other States of the Union combined. In taking up a comment of the New York World upon this industrial achievement of the South, the Norfolk paper says:

"The New York World thinks this southward sshifting of cotton manufacturing industry, while due in a measure to the enterprise of the people of this section, is to be mainly credited to the economic law which in later years has almost everywhere been carrying the mill to the field of the raw material, instead of taking the material to the mill. This is no doubt true. The iron and steel industry, as is pointed out, long ago shifted to sections where deposits of coal and iron ore both abounded. But why is it that this same economic law is working so slowly and sluggishly in shifting the cotton manufacturing industry from European countries to the United States? We produce about seventy per cent of the world's total output of raw cotton; our outturn of cotton goods is less than thirty per cent of the whole. Last year the total crop of the fleecy staple in the United States was 17,673,294 bales; only 5,657,711 bales were worked up in American mills. The reason isn't far to seek, and is so plain that he who runs may read. Our policy of tariff protection with a big "P" both weakens the incentive of the American cotton manufacturer, as it does that of American manufacturers generally, to get out and hustle for foreign trade and handicaps him in competing in the foreign field with his competitor of virtually free trade England. The economic law is shifting the cotton manufacturing industry in this country from the Northern States to those comprising the Cotton Belt, because it has freedom to operate; it isn't to any appreciable degree, shifting the industry from Europe to the United States because of the artificial barrier to its operation in the shape of the protective tariff. The moral pointed is as plain as a pike staff."

The World editor recognizes the enterprise of Southerners but strongly emphasizes the economic law that where the raw material is produced that is where it should be turned into the finished product. "But," the Norfolk editor inquires, "why is it that the same economic law is working so slowly and sluggishly in shifting the cotton manufacturing industry from European countries to the United States?" Our contemporary answers its own question in the very essential particular affecting the tariff, but we must consider in that connection the matter of capital, the amount and cost of labor, and the question of transportation. It is more reasonable that the mills of New England should come South than that those of Europe should come where the raw cotton is produced. The European system of transportation by both water and rail is more economical than ours, and especially that of shipments by water. We understand that cotton by the cargo can be shipped from any portion of the South and delivered to the mills at Manchester, England, at a less freight rate than similar shipments can be made by rail to New England mills. Cheaper labor in Europe adds to that advantage, and still added to that is England's great merchant marine as a distributor of finished products to all parts of the world.

We have no doubt, however, that with a merchant marine equal to that of any other Nation, Europe's advantage in labor is all that she would have left. However, that may be offset here by the advantage which mills would have by being located where the cotton grows. We have a mind that the learned editor of the Virginian-Pilot could go on and show that the protective tariff is the principal cause of the dwindling of the American merchant marine. The tariff has caused the cost of production to be higher here than in Europe. It has largely confined American mill products to the home market, for the reason that we cannot compete in the markets of the world with the cheaper made cotton products of Europe. Indeed, a large number of our economists claim that if it were not for the protective tariff, the European cotton mills could invade the American markets and close every cotton mill in the country.

The fact is, however, the tariff has almost exclusively resricted us to the home market, while Europe has captured the lion's share of the trade of South America and all portions of the world. Having no great foreign trade and not being in a position to meet European competition abroad, we have had no use for a merchant marine. Consequently it has dwindled, and the claim is that it can only be revived by a subsidy that would put our shipping on an equal footing with the cheaper water transportation of European countries. The very need for a ship subsidy has been created by our protective tariff policy, and it follows that a tariff which has compelled us to do business with ourselves has practically destroyed our use for ships to trade with the world. The Republican party is responsible for it.

We have often wondered, however, why the New England mills have not come where the cotton grows, but the Inter-State Commerce Commission a few years ago furnished us one of the reasons. It sanctioned freight differentials (or discrimination) in favor of New England points on raw cotton shipped from the South to New England, and on manufactured products shipped from New England to San Francisco for the Oriental trade. According to that ruling of the Commission, affirming the reasonableness of a freight differential, New England mills were allowed a lower transcontinental rate than some of the mills in Georgia, or other Southern points, for that matter. It was the only thing that saved the New England mills and prevented them ultimately from coming where the cotton grows. Transportation rulings stand in the way of a more rapid movement of cotton milling from the North to the South, not to say that we still lack the port developments and shipping facilities that would equal those of deep water points at the North. These are coming and so are the mills.

RIGHT OUR TARIFF WRONGS

A protective tariff is levied by the Republican party to guarantee profits to manufacturers. Under Republican tariffs, good prices are assured and that logically and actually carries out the guarantee of that party's platform. Under high tariffs, foreign competition is shut out, and by reason of the combination of the protected interests in this country, home competition is eliminated. In a market in which there is no competition from either abroad or at home, it stands to reason that the trusts can charge any price they please.

To deny that the tariff causes high prices in a monopolized market is to deny the very purpose for which the protective tariff has been adopted as a system for promoting industrial prosperity. The fact is, however, industrial prosperity, is the result of overtaxing the masses who are struggling to take care of themselves. It is this special favoritism of the Republican party that has caused a revolution against Republicanism. It has carried protection too far and has placed such a burden upon the consuming masses that they resent the continued purpose of either of the special privilege parties to levy tribute on all the people for the privileged few.

A protective tariff simply means a tax on the people in behalf of certain great industries and interests of the country. The Democratic party denies the justness of such a discriminating tax, and the temper of the people is such that they will overwhelmingly repudiate any party which lays a burden on them for the benefit of the beneficiaries of such inniquitous laws as the Aldrich-Payne-Smoot Act.

The government, as administered by the Republican party, oppresses the masses for the benefit of the classes and, contrary to that policy, the Democratic platform declares in its platform that under the constitution the government has no right to levy any tax not mainly or solely intended for the support of the people's government. However, the country has so long done business under artificial stimulation to trade, that to take away that stimulant all at once would be to bring about the collapse of the patient. Therefore, the Democracy proposes gradual reduction of the tariff so no interest which has had government aid will suffer from a radical cessation of that aid. The Democratic platform, consequently, proposes a safe plan for lowering tariff taxes, so that the masses can get relief while the protected interests shall be made to more depend upon themselves and not upon favorite legislation which is wrong in principle and outrageous in practice.

ROTATION OF CONGRESSMAN

Rotation in office for the sake of ambition seems to have lost ground in the North, and while it seems to have been recognized in the South it is also losing ground down here. It almost grew into a custom in the Cape Fear district to allow a Congressman only two terms, but the precedent was broken a few years ago. However, it was not broken early enough to save the Hon. John D. Bellamy from being rotated out of Congress to make way for the bestowal of the honor upon someone else. The idea seemed to prevail in the district that everybody ought to have a showing in Congress and we lost sight of the fact that the longer we would keep an able and capable man in Congress the greater would be the influence of the district at Washington. It is getting to the point now that rotation is only justifiable when a better man can be sent. This seems to be the policy adopted in one of the Pennsylvania districts, for upon that point the Chester, (Pa.) Republican says:

"Upon each recurring Congressional election in the Chester-Delaware district, the Delaware County Democrat brings up its regulation objection that Thomas S. Butler has been given a continuity in his responsible representation at Washington, when some 14 years ago it was agreed at a Republican conference that Mr. Butler was to have four terms as Congressman and then the office was to revert to a Delaware countian. This piece of historical data is probably correct. But the Republican party and business interests came to a realization since that rotation in this office was not advisable, because it requires several years before a Congressman can attain acquaintance, influence and knowledge of government channels so as to get what is wanted for a district. It was learned from experience that Congressman Butler was zealous in his work for the Chester-Delaware district, that he had made himself one of the most popular men in the House as well as standing high with the administration, hence it was deemed best to continue Mr. Butler at Washington. Rotation of this office may have served in earlier days, when there was not such great industrial centers to represent like there are now in this district. But the rule does not apply today. Congressman Butler has labored hard and long to master his responsibility at Washington, and the Chester-Delaware electorate will not take chances on placing a novice in his place."

There is a great deal of truth in what the Republican says about rotating its Republican Congressmen. The only rotation that would seem justifiable would be to send a Wilson Democrat in Mr. Butler's place. However, if a Republican is to be sent, the reasons are good why Mr. Butler should be returned. He is now a trained Congressman.

President Roosevelt sent for Harriman because he wanted to consult with him, but he denies that he asked the railroad magnate for campaign money. Since Mr. Harriman went back and immediately raised $250,000 to elect Roosevelt, it must be inferred that the hints on the occasion of that conference had a most powerful effect on Mr. Roosevelt's conferee.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Col. A. H. Boyden, of Salisbury, N. C., has contributed $2,500 to the Raleigh News and Observer's Woodrow Wilson fund. There are a dozen South Carolinians who could write quite as substantial checks, but—Columbia State.

It is a fact that Mr. Kitchin did not put a single trust out of business, and neither did Mr. Aycock or Mr. Glenn and neither will Mr. Craig. Still there was nothing to prevent a Democratic Legislature from passing an anti-trust law to its liking.—Durham Herald, (Ind.)

Mr. R. M. Jackson, a prominent and successful farmer of the Judson section, is experimeilting with long staple cotton this year. Mr. Jackson planted about 50 acres and he is very much gratified with the yield. The line has an excellent color and the staple is so much longer and stronger than that of the ordinary short staple that the difference is easily detected. Mr. Jackson hopes to obtain 18 to 20 cents per pound for his cotton. He says it does not cost any more to raise the long staple, although it can not be ginned with an ordinary gin. His ginning plant is equipped with a special gin for the long staple and he has a ready market at McColl where the mills use that variety of cotton. Mr. Jackson's experiments with the long staple cotton are being watched with interest by his neighbors.—Dillon (S. C.) Herald.

Col. Bryan, in The Commoner, last week took another shot at Senator Simmons. He says Simmons "ought to be defeated," because "North Carolina is in reality a progressive State. It is entitled to representation in the United States Senate of a man whose heart is known to be in sympathy with the hearts of the people. Mr. Simmons is not such a man. He would do very well as a representative of the stand-pat Republican party. He will not do as a representative of the Democratic party if that party is to be true to its principles." A year or 18 months ago, Senator Simmons refused to take orders from Col. Bryan, and perhaps was the first Southern Senator to refuse to be dictated to by the Commoner. Perhaps that explains Col. Bryan's anxiety to have Simmons removed from the Senate.—Charlotte Observer.

The sale in one lot of 800,000 pounds of tobacco pooled last year by members of the Stokes County Farmers' Union, is in line with the course which tobacco growers of Virgina, Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri have extensively pursued. We read elsewhere that Utah farmers are establishing a big wool warehouse and a $500,000 bank to enable sheepmen to hold their wool independent of buyers. The uneven and unsteady but ever-growing movement of the same nature among cotton growers is more in evidence every year. Our farmers are becoming business men, as Alfred E. Moseley, the English economist, recently said: they are adopting business methods, even trust methods. While Mr. Moseley and many others may look upon this tendency with disfavor because it further increases living costs, we are glad to see the farmer reap better rewards. Unless, against probability, matters go too far, the general interest will be advanced thereby.—Charlotte Observer.

Saves Leg of Boy

"It seemed that my 14-year old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C. "All remedies and doctors treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25 cents at R. R. Bellamy's.

How to Make Better Cough Syrup than You Can Buy

A Family Supply, Saving $2 and Fully Guaranteed.

A full pint of cough syrup—as much as you could buy for $2.50—can easily be made at home. You will find nothing that takes hold of an obstinate cough more quickly, usually ending it inside of 24 hours. Excellent, too, for croup, whooping cough, sore lungs, asthma, hoarseness and other throat troubles.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appetite, which is usually upset by a cough. The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is now used by thousands of housewives throughout the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, but the old successful formula has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WIFE KILLS HER HUSBAND

Distressing Tragedy Sunday Morning, When Mr. Octavus King Was Accidentally Killed—Funeral Held Yesterday.

Mr. Octavus King, aged 25 years, son of Mr. James King, well and favorably known among a wide circle of friends, was accidentally shot and almost instantly killed Sunday morning about 8 o'clock at his home, No. 706 Wooster street, by his wife, Mrs. Blanche King, who is almost prostrate with grief over the shocking tragedy. Mr. King lived long enough after he was wounded to make a statement in which he said that the shooting was purely accidental.

Mr. King purchased a pistol Saturday, it is said, and slept with it under his pillow Saturday night. Before getting up Sunday morning he was playing with one of his children on the bed and in some manner jostled the pistol out from under the pillow. Not wanting it in the bed, Mrs. King picked it up to give to her husband so he could put it away, when in some unexplainable manner it was discharged, the bullet entering Mr. King's left side and penetrating the heart.

Dr. C. D. Bell, the coroner, was notified and in the afternoon he held an inquest, the jury finding that the shooting was accidental.

The jury was composed of R. A. Biddle, foreman; J. W. Costin, H. A. Carr, G. W. McMillan, Joseph Roderick, W. T. Walker, secretary. There were only three witnesses.

The first was Mr. J. W. West, who lives next door to the King home. His testimony in substance was as follows: "I saw E. O. King Sunday morning standing in the doorway of his home with his wife on his right hand side holding his arm. He was leaning on the left side of the door facing. I saw blood on his side. He seemed to be in full possession of his senses. He said to me, 'Bud, I am shot, but it was an accident.' He called me Bud, but I was no relation of his. 'Hurry up,' he continued, 'and get the ambulance.' I left and went to a telephone for ambulance. I was away about five minutes and when I returned I found King lying on the floor, apparently dead. He was dead when the ambulance arrived.

"Before I went to the home the first time I heard a pistol shot and a woman scream. This caused me to go to the King home, which is only six feet from my house. I was the first person to get to Mr. King. I had known Mr. King and his wife for three months and they appeared to be a devoted couple. The first thing I heard Mrs. King say was, 'Yes, it was an accident.' This was while they were standing together. I saw Mr. King at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night and he was apparently in good health and good spirits."

Mr. E. L. W. King, a cousin of the deceased, arrived at the saddened home a few minutes after Mr. West got there. He testified in substance as follows: "I live on corner opposite E. O. King's residence, about 150 feet distant. About 8 A. M. I heard something like a pistol shot, but did not pay much attention to it until I heard Mr. West call out. I then went to King's home. Tavy, as we all knew him, was standing in the door. Mrs. King was screaming. I rushed in and found that Tavy was shot in the left side. His wife was holding him up. Tavy said it was all an accident. Mrs. King was crying and calling for some one to do something for Tavy. Mrs. King, in Tavy's presence, said that Tavy was playing with the baby, bouncing her up and down on the bed, that she (Mrs. King) saw the pistol, which had been jostled from under the pillow, and called to Tavy to take the pistol and put it away; that she picked it up to hand it to him; that she had not gotten out of bed at the time and Mr. King was still in his night clothes playing with the baby. She handed the pistol to Mr. King, or was in the act of handing it to him, when either by contact with the bed or some other way, she does not know, the pistol went off. I know that Tavy and his wife were a most devoted couple. Just before he died with his head in her lap he looked up to her and told her not to worry, that it was all an accident. Mrs. King seemed to be heartbroken over the affair. While I was assisting Tavy in the doorway, I left him to get a blanket. I went into his room and saw a pistol on the bed. I examined the pistol and it had one empty shell in it and two cartridges. It was a 32-calibre. It was not a safety hammer pistol."

Miss Ethel Gainey, sister of Mrs. King, who has been with the King family for the past seven months, testified that she was in the kitchen when she heard a pistol. She said she ran to the bed room of Mr. and Mrs. King and met Mr. King coming out and Mrs. King following. She heard Mr. King tell Mr. West that he was shot by accident and heard Mrs. King say that she shot her darling husband. The couple, she said, had always appeared to be devoted to each other.

The funeral of Mr. King will be held at 10 o'clock this morning from the Sixth Street Advent Christian church, conducted by Elder J. W. S. Harvey, and interment will be in Bellevue cemetery. The services were postponed from yesterday to await the arrival here of a brother, Mr. R. L. King, and a sister, Mrs. Naomi Werner, of Jacksonville, Fla., who were expected on the late train last night.

Mr. King is survived by his wife and two children, the oldest being about three years old and the youngest 13 months old.

BRUNSWICK DEMOCRATS.

Probability That the Entire County Ticket Will be Elected.

A Wilmingtonian who has just returned from a visit to Southport brings the gratifying information that there is a strong probability that the entire Democratic ticket will be elected in Brunswick county this Fall. It is said that several offices are almost conceded to the Democrats. Ex-Sheriff D. R. Walker, who was nominated last Tuesday as Republican candidate for the House of Representatives, has declined to make the race and the leaders of the party are much concerned right now to find a strong man to oppose Mr. Geo. H. Bellamy, the Democratic nominee. C. Ed Taylor, Esq., of Southport, who has represented his county in the Legislature several times and who is possibly the strongest Republican in the county, declined some weeks ago to permit the use of his name in connection with the office this year. Whether he can be prevailed upon to accept the nomination remains to be seen. The impression seems to be pretty general in Brunswick, according to information received here, that Mr. Bellamy stands a splendid chance of being elected no matter who the Republicans succeed in getting to oppose him. The Democratic ticket in Brunswick county is considered unusually strong this year and, as stated, all stand a fine chance of being elected.

WORK ON PRINCESS STREET.

42,000 Loads of Sand Were Used in Filling in Low Place.

The contractor in charge of the work being done by Mr. Thos. H. Wright, on Princess street, between 13th and 15th, calls attention to typographical error in an item in Sunday's paper about the filling in of Princess street. It was stated in the article that 2,000 loads were used when it should have been over 42,000 loads.

This work is the building up of Princess street. It is principally in the street and while it is being done and paid for by a private individual, is of material benefit to the city, as it widens and opens Princess street.

As soon as the trestle over which the street car line crosses Macomber's ditch at 14th street is replaced by a culvert, Princess street will be open its entire length. Princess street east of 17th street is now one of our most beautiful residential streets and this work west of 17th street will greatly improve the outlook and beauty of the suburban line, and create in the minds of the thousands of visitors an entirely different and decidedly more favorable opinion of Wilmington.

REVENUE CUTTER RETURNS

Seminole Could Find No Trace of Schooner Reported Abandoned

The revenue cutter Seminole returned Sunday from a fruitless search for the derelict schooner Henry Weiler, bound from Darien, Ga., to New York, reported abandoned about 100 miles off the Cape Fear bar.

The cutter left here Wednesday to engage in target practice near Fort Caswell with the cutter Yamacraw from the Savannah station and was having practice when the summons came from Washington to go out and look for the Henry Weiler. The Seminole searched for the derelict schooner Thursday, Friday and part of Saturday, but no trace of her could be found. After replenishing her bunkers with coal the cutter will go out again and make another effort to locate the Weiler. It is thought the schooner's crew were picked up by a passing vessel.

"FULL HOUSE" YESTERDAY

Recorder Had More Than the Usual Number of Defendants—Monthly Raid on Houses of Ill-Repute —Cases Continued

As Recorder Furlong remarked, it would appear from the size of the Recorder's court docket yesterday morning that evil doers did double time over Sunday in an effort to make up for the comparative quiet that has reigned for the past few weeks. The offenses charged were varied and the defendants received varying judgments, some going to the roads or farm, while others got off with a fine and costs or costs. Although the docket was heavy the cases ready for trial were disposed of in not quite two hours.

Armed with warrants from the Recorder the police department made the monthly raid on the denizens of the underworld Sunday night, getting all told 34. They are charged with vagrancy, it being alleged that they have no visible means of support. The women, or most of them, were in court yesterday morning to answer to the charge. Assistant City Attorney Geo. L. Peschau made a statement to the court relative to the cases. He said that as usual on Mondays the docket yesterday was crowded and that the cases against the women could not well be reached, therefore he would suggest that some day later in the week be set as the time for the hearing and that the trials be held at that time. He also referred to the fact that the witnesses in the cases are police officers who are on night duty and that in order not to work any greater hardship than necessary on them some definite time for the hearing should be set. It was decided to take up the cases Thursday morning. A number of the women did not answer and the Recorder ordered that caplases be issued for them and if arrested be required to give $25 bond for their appearance at trial. Later six or eight came into court and were recognized as were those who answered when called.

Mr. Peschau called attention of the court to a statement made to him to the effect that Mr. Melvin Horne, recently placed under a bond to keep the peace with Mr. D. L. T. Capps and all other good citizens, had been cursed and abused and had his life threatened him by Mr. Capps, and under the terms of the bond he was not in position to resent the attack. Mr. Horne stated that he had a witness to the incident said to have taken place Saturday. The Recorder ordered that a subpoena be issued for Mr. Horne's witness and also for Mr. Capps, both to report in court this morning, when the affair will be investigated. Mr. Capps later came into court and asked that two or three witnesses for him be summoned.

Frances Busbee, Spencer Harrell, Solomon Davis, Chas. Nixon and Louis Mac Wise, all colored, charged with gambling, were required to pay $5 each and costs. W. H. Pridgen, a white man, employed in the city sanitary department, answered to two charges—drunkenness and reckless driving, being fined $5 and costs in each. Wm. Tyson, colored, contributed $5 and costs for disorderly conduct. Frank Chadwick, white, was tried for drunkeness and disorderly conduct and resisting an officer. He was found guilty in both cases and fined $10 and costs in each. Mose Bryant, colored, was fined $10 and costs for disorderly conduct, while a case charging vagrancy was nol prossed. Dave Clark, colored, was assessed $10 and costs for drunkeness and disorderly conduct. For carrying a concealed weapon Luke Stokes, colored, was given three months on the roads. A case against James Spencer, colored, charged with an affray, was left open pending an investigation of statement of the party that he had previously been tried in Justice Bornemann's court on the same offense. Francis Leak, colored, paid $5 and costs for disorderly conduct. A case against Minnie Faison, colored, charged with keeping a gambling house, was left open for judgment. George Hawkins, white, was charged with trespass but nol pros with leave as taken in his case.

Emma Stevens, a negro girl, was found guilty of carrying a concealed weapon, to wit, a razor, and sentenced to three months at the county farm. She was tried a few days ago for assault with deadly weapon, to wit, the same razor, and given three months. So she has a total of six months. She gave notice of appeal in both cases.

Lee Price, colored, was in court to answer a charge of attempted house breaking. His case was continued until this morning. He was arrested Sunday night by Officers Frank George, Ed. George and O. H. Bullard. The officers say that they saw him attempt to enter a house at the head of Schutt's Alley. When he saw the officers he crouched down beside the building. The officers then walked up to him and placed him under arrest. The negro is said to have tried to gain entrance by opening a window.

Annual Election of Officers.

At a meeting of the Knights of Columbus last night the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Grand Knight, H. T. Bauman; Deputy Grand Knight, T. E. Applewhite; Chancellor, W. F. Jones; Recorder, John W. Rowan; Financial Secretary, E. F. Peschau; Treasurer, D. M. Carroll; Advocate, Waddell Watters; Warden D. J. O'Keefe; Inside Guard, D. A. Lockfaw; Outside Guard, Jas. B. Sheehan; Chaplain, Rev. C. Dennen; Trustee, John Freeman.

UNABLE TO REACH VERDICT.

Jury in Everitt Damage Suit Fail to Agree—Mistrial Ordered.

After having been out for over 26 hours with no prospect of an agreement, the jury in the case of R. H. Everitt, by his next friend, W. B. Everitt, against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, reported to Judge Frank Carter, Sunday afternoon about 2 o'clock that they were hopelessly divided on the issues and that it was a waste of time to keep them together any longer. Judge Carter withdrew a juror and a mistrial was ordered. The jury was then discharged. The plaintiff was suing for $20,000 for the loss of an arm while in the employ of the defendant company two or three years ago. The trial of the case consumed several days and was hard fought on both sides. Judge Carter had intended to keep the jury together until yesterday or today in the hope that they would reach an agreement, but Sunday he decided that it would not avail anything to hold them any longer.

Judge Carter left on the afternoon train for Jacksonville, where he is holding Onslow Superior Court this week. He expects to return to Wilmington in December to hold the special term of court that Governor Kitchin will likely call upon the petition of Judge Carter.

MAKING CONCRETE BLOCKS.

Mr. J. C. Herring's Enterprise is Meeting With Fine Success.

Recently in an editorial The Star told of the local enterprise of Mr. J. C. Herring, calling attention particularly to the thousands of water and sewer pipe which the city of Wilmington was using and the fact that this was shipped in here from other points. Yesterday Mr. Herring made his first shipment to the Seaboard Air Line of 30-inch concrete pipe. This pipe has been tested by the chief engineer of the road and found entirely satisfactory and he has been given an order for a hundred car loads. The Star is glad to note that Mr. Herring's enterprise is meeting with success.

FUNERAL OF MRS. M'CABE

Services Were Held Yesterday Afternoon—Interment at Bellevue

The funeral of Mrs. Ella V. McCabe, the beloved wife of Mr. J. B. McCabe, whose death occurred early Sunday night at the family home, No. 217 Wrightsville avenue, Carolina Place, was held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Mr. Walter E. Yopp's funeral parlors, conducted by Rev. G. T. Adams, pastor of Fifth Street Methodist church. There were present a number of relatives and friends. Interment was in Bellevue cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. C. E. Good, R. A. Wright, J. F. Head and W. H. Stansell.

Mrs. McCabe was 31 years old and is survived by her husband, her mother and one child, several years of age. The bereaved have the deep sympathy of many friends. In June of this year Mr. and Mrs. McCabe lost their seven-year-old daughter, who died of lockjaw, which resulted from a splinter in one of her feet. Mrs. McCabe was greatly depressed over the death of the child and it is thought that grief over the daughter's passing hastened her own death. Mrs. McCabe spent the greater part of the Summer with her mother near Chicago, Ill., in the hope that the change would prove beneficial to her. She returned recently and her mother came with her to make her home in this city.

BROOKLYN REVIVAL CLOSES

Successful Series of Meetings Come To an End Sunday Night

The revival which has been in progress at Brooklyn Baptist church for the preceding two weeks, came to a close with the service Sunday night. It is thought that the series of meetings will result in much good. Rev. J. W. Ham, the well-known evangelist, did the preaching and he drew large congregations at each service. There were about 27 accessions to the church as a result of the revival. Last night a baptismal service was held and six or seven were baptised. Mr. and Mrs. Ham left yesterday afternoon for Hamlet, where they will spend a week or two before entering another revival.

Fortunes In Faces

There's often much truth in the saying "her face is her fortune," but it's never said where pimples, skin eruptions, blotches, or other blemishes disfigure it. Impure blood is back of them all, and shows the need of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They promote health and beauty. Try them. 25cts. at R. R. Bellamy's.

Sanford, N. C., Oct. 14.—One of the most beautiful social functions of the season was the linen shower Friday evening by Mrs. J. U. Gunter, at her lovely new home on Summit avenue, in honor of Miss Clara Womble, who on the 15th is to become the bride of Mr. William Brearley Cooper, of South Carolina. Mrs. Gunter, attired in an exquisite lingerie dress, received the guests at the door and presented them to Miss Womble, who looked charming in a handsome lavender messaline with dew drop overdress. After a very interesting contest Miss May Cross was presented with the prize, a very beautiful picture. The guests were then ushered into the dining room, which was beautiful in its decorations of white and yellow with a profusion of flowers and ferns. Under the soft glow of many candles the guests toasted Miss Womble and enjoyed the delicious three-course luncheon. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many handsome pieces of linen. DYNAMITE TRIAL.

Explosives Were Almost Lost in the Ocean, Testifies Witness.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14.—While James B. McNamara and his accomplices were tossing about in a launch near San Francisco, with the dynamite later used in explosions at Los Angeles, they came near losing the explosives in the ocean.

Paul J. Stuparich, owner of a cafe, seven miles from San Francisco, so testified at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today. He had told of the first appearance of a gasoline launch near his cafe 10 days before the Los Angeles Times explosion in which were three men answering the description of McNamara, F. A. Schmitt and David Caplan, and saw the launch several times.

When they came back later I noticed something about five feet long covered with canvas tipping at the end of the boat and while they were turning around I yelled: 'Say, fellows, be careful, or you'll lose that package.'

"It appeared to be tipping into the water. They made it snug, and that was the last I saw of them."

Stuparich was called as one of the witnesses by whom the government asserts it will show a connecting link between the McNamaras and the present defendants, who are charged with illegal inter-State shipment of explosives and with conspiracy. The canvas was declared to be the same as that found later in a house which McNamara rented in San Francisco and in which a quantity of nitro-glycerine was found.

The testimony of most of today's witnesses was confined to identification of letters, the contents of which are to be made known later.

Mrs. Mary Hitchings, a former stenographer for J. J. McNamara, hesitated about answering questions.

"Has anybody been talking to you about your testimony here?" asked James W. Noel, counsel for the government.

"No," replied Mrs. Hitchings, "but since I spoke to the government agents I talked it over with other witnesses and we decided to be very cautious in our answers."

FINE CONCERT LAST NIGHT

The Apollo Concert Co., Opens Lyceum Course at St. Andrew's

(Contributed.)

The formal dedication of the beautiful Memorial Hall of St. Andrew's church took place last night when the Appolo Concert Company appeared as the initial attraction under the auspices of the Brotherhood of that church. The seating capacity was almost taxed to its utmost to take care of all who had come prepared to enjoy an evening of rare pleasure and they were not disappointed.

Although composed of but five, each one of whom was an artist, the variety of the entertainment given would have done credit to a much larger organization, embracing among many musical instruments, the Apollophone which is the xylophone, carried out to its logical conclusion as one capable of being handled by five thus forming a complete harmony, flute, cornet, trombone quartette of saxophones, harp, guitar, mandolin, piano. The original programme embraces ten numbers but so pleased was the audience that each number was repeatedly encored so enthusiastically that it was many times that number before the last was finally reached.

While singling out of any one might seem a reflection on the others, yet due credit for so large a part of the pleasure of the evening might be given to Miss Coyla M. Spring, whose readings completely captivated her hearers. Of pleasing voice and manners, her each appearance was a signal for applause which was not satisfied until her entire repertoire would seem to have been exhausted, so graciously did she continue to respond.

If the Apollos are an index to what is to follow, holders of season tickets may count themselves fortunate and look forward to many more evenings of rare enjoyment and instruction.

FOR HIGHER TOBACCO PRICES.

Planters Want Legislation so They May Compete With Foreigners.

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 13.—A call for a meeting of tobacco planters from Virginia and other States, to be held here this week, has been issued by D. M. Gannaway, president of the Virginia Educational & Co-operative Union, the object being to secure the enactment of National legislation by which prices on export tobacco can be increased, instead of permitting foreign governments to locate buyers on the various markets and dictate prices by the lack of competition on grades that are bought for export.

Nearly 51,000 pounds of leaf tobacco were sold in the warehouses here the past week, an increase of 20,600 pounds over the previous week. The priming crop is about all sold, and the offerings the past week were principally new tobacco, and consisted largely of inferior grades. Prices on the whole were considered satisfactory, some of the best lots of Austrian leaf bringing as high as $11.25 per hundred. Sales will continue small until there is a general season for handling tobacco.

Instead of trying to run the affairs of the nation from your limited sphere, why not get busy on local problems and bend every energy to the task of making your county the best in the land? There you can be forceful; and after all, the national government is made up of the country units.—Greensboro News.

HOW TO GAIN HEALTHY FLESH.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., Advise Use of Samose.

While thinness may not be a disease, yet it is in reality a condition that needs attention. Under the nourishing power of Samose healthy, natural flesh will soon be attached.

This remarkable flesh-forming food strengthens the system generally and builds up the fleshy tissues so that good, natural plumpness results.

An ounce of flesh is better than a pound of theory the J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. believes that the best possible demonstration of the flesh-forming powers of Samose is to have it tried by their customers and to induce them to use it, they offer to pay for the Samose in case it does not give satisfaction. No stronger proof than this can be given of their faith in it. They have seen hundreds who were weak, thin and scrawny become plump, robust and strong, solely through the use of Samose.

MRS. J. F. GAUSE, SR., DEAD

Passed Away Sunday Morning Rather Suddenly—Funeral

Many friends were shocked and saddened Sunday morning to learn of the death of Mrs. J. F. Gause, Sr., which occurred at the family residence, No. 811 Market street ,very suddenly Sunday morning at 5:45 o'clock. Heart trouble was the cause of the death and Mrs. Gause's immediate illness lasted only about 45 minutes. She had a similar attack Friday, but apparently recovered and was feeling about as well as usual Saturday.

Mrs. Gause was a daughter of Mr. Richard J. Jones and the late Mrs. Ann Eliza Jones and was born in Wilmington January 1st, 1856, making her, therefore, in the 56th year of her age. She was married to Mr. J. F. Gause December 12th, 1878, and Mr. Gause and two sons, Mr. Thos. J. Gause and Mr. J. F. Gause, Jr., survive. She also leaves her father, two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Price and Mrs. J. W. Lamb, of this city, and two nieces, Mrs. S. E. Wood and Miss Fannie Jones Lamb, also of this city. The bereaved will have the tenderest sympathy of a great many friends in their sorrow. Mrs. Gause was for a number of years a consistent member of Grace Methodist church and was a most devout Christian woman, greatly beloved by all within the circle of her acquaintance. She will be greatly missed in the home circle, in the church and in the community.

The funeral services were held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the late residence, conducted by Rev. J. C. Wooten, pastor of Grace Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Dr. J. M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. There were present a large number of friends and relatives and there were many beautiful floral designs. The interment was in Oakdale cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. H. L. Fennell, J. C. Springer, Jesse Wilder, M. S. Willard, J. R. Turrentine, Sr., and J. V. Grainger.

OPENING OF CANAL.

Event to be Celebrated at Maxton October 23rd.

Maxton, N. C., Oct. 13.—On Wednesday, October 23rd, there will be a big celebration at the opening of the large canal which is to drain about 33,000 acres of Robeson county's finest farming land, and many prominent speakers will be present to address the crowds that are sure to be here. Among them are Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, J. A. Brown and O. L. Clark.

Work on this project has progressed very rapidly and smoothly and the operations are now well into the swamp, although access to the dredge is easy and the celebration will be held right at the plant where the work is in progress. This is a busy time with most people, it is true, but those who will come to Maxton to witness this great undertaking, which will not be completed under two years, will be well repaid for their time, both by what they shall see and hear from the noted speakers of the day.

Mr. A. S. Rigleman, an iron worker from Greensboro, while putting on the cornice work at Carolina College, fell to the ground from the top of the building, some 40 feet, yesterday, breaking several ribs and doubtless receiving internal injuries also, but owing to his unconscious condition the extent of the trouble can not be determined.

Mrs. J. Luther McLean, who has been sick for some weeks, is reported in a very critical condition.

..Theatrical..

In spite of the murky weather of yesterday, with its accompanying chill, the favorite old Bijou, where all is always solid comfort, no matter the atmospheric conditions, made a glorious start of the new week. Yes, in spite of the inclement weather, the Bijou did big business, and those who were lucky enough to be among those present saw a great bill, one of the very best ever.

The large attendance on such a day as yesterday attested as nothing else could the supreme popularity of the Bijou, the pioneer moving picture theatre, not only of Wilmington, but of North Carolina, and yet one of the most modern and one of the handsomest.

Another swell bill is on tapis for today, headed by the sparkling society comedy film, "When Persistency and Obstinacy Meet", and the stars of this superb photoplay are the favorite actor, Mr. Maurice Costello, and that charming, clever actress, Miss Florence Turner. The plot is a snappy one, telling how a young woman turns down her admirer and he pursues her in all kinds of disguises. The complications that arise are decidedly mirthful.

The star dramatic film for today is "The Danger Line", and as well as being of a most stirring nature, it teaches a big lesson. It tells how a wife, through the inattention of her husband, a man with mind single for business, becomes infatuated with an adventurer, and the method pursued by her brother to cure her. The banquet scene is one of especial brilliancy and glitter.

The other Bijou films are just as strong and will help make today's Bijou bill a really wonderful one.

Big Day at the Grand:

At the Grand Theatre today Mr. Leonard Chick will charm patrons of the pretty playhouse with one of the greatest love songs ever written. It is entitled "Honeymoon Love" and is sure to make a great hit. It is a companion piece to "Beautiful Doll", only better, and is sure to please those who like a real love song. It should not be missed.

As usual, there will be three films of the pictures, with two of them big feature successes. There will be first of all a Kalem comedy, "The Belle of the Beach." It is the story of a girl who works in everyday life at the underwear counter in a big department store, but secures a vacation and goes to the beach, stopping at The Seashore Hotel. She borrows all the finery in the possession of her friends, gets the insertion of a little local in the society column that she is an heiress to millions and the fun she has at the expense of the only good looking young fellow on the beach is a plenty. This film really has a local atmosphere and it will be one of the big hits of the week. Then there will be a Vitagraph, "The Red Barrier," which is the story of an ingratiating count and what becomes of him. All these pictures will be put on with special effects and full orchestral accompaniment. It will be a great day at the Grand and the management would appreciate a call.

The Winning Widow.

"The Winning Widow" will be the attraction at the Academy Saturday, matinee and night. Local theatre-goers will be assured of a good two hours and a half of uproarious fun together with bright and tuneful music, and a collection of pretty girls, which combination makes up an exceedingly pleasing musical comedy called "The Winning Widow." The book is a revised version by Ed Moran. Music and lyrics by Seymour Furth and Ed P. Moran, staged by Thomas Grady, under the personal direction of Max Spiegel. Forty people are employed in this production. While the action of the piece provides a host of amusing incidents, these well known farceurs introduce their high-class specialties throughout, adding materially to the evening's enjoyment. A large chorus of pretty girls that can sing and dance is one of the pleasing features. The show has many beautiful scenic and electrical effects also which will be seen for the first time on any stage during the engagement of "The Winning Widow."

The prices of this superb attraction will really be of the popular price type for the matinee, which will prove a decidedly strong magnet. All seats downstairs will be 75 cents and balcony seats 50 cents, but a school child will be admitted to any portion of the theatre for 25 cents. The night prices will run to $1.50, and seats for both performances will go on sale at Plummer's Friday morning.

TRAIN SERVICE IS RESUMED.

Appointment of Arbitrators in the Strike on the Georgia Railroad.

Augusta, Oct. 14.—Arbitrators are expected to be named during the day by the Georgia Railroad and the conductors and trainmen. Train service has been completely resumed, and the Georgia officials are endeavoring to relieve the freight congestion caused by 12 days of idleness on the road. Thousands of bales of cotton have been tied up at various stations, and it will require several days to get things down to normal again.

It is persistently rumored that Assistant Grand Chief F. A. Burgess, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, will be the arbitrator for the conductors and trainmen of the Georgia Railroad, although Vice-Presidents Gregg and Murdock, of the conductors and trainmen, respectively, refused to confirm or deny the report.

Messrs. Gregg and Murdock stated that the name of their arbitrator would be submitted to Dr. Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor, and that the Georgia road's arbitrator would also be submitted to Dr. Neill, and that the latter would give out the names of those selected. Dr. Neill had not arrived here from Atlanta this morning.

Superintendent W. S. Brand, of the Georgia road, said that General Manager Scott would be the one to select the arbitrator, and that Mr. Scott is in Atlanta today.

"Honeymoon Love"

A companion piece to "Beautiful Doll," as sung by Mr. Leonard Chick at the Grand Theatre today.

Cottolene

the economical cooking fat

Cottolene is well adapted for pastry-making because it produces light, delicate, flaky crust, and is much more wholesome than either butter or lard.

Cottolene is a vegetable product—contains no animal fat. It has more nutritive value, and food made with it digests more readily than if made from animal fat.

Cottolene is better and cheaper than lard, it costs about the price of lard. Two-thirds of a pound of Cottolene will do the work of a full pound of butter or lard.

Cottolene is never sold in bulk—always in air-tight tin pails, which protect it from dirt, dust and odors. It is always uniform and dependable.

COTTON MARKET UNSETTLED

Sharp Break Right After the Opening Was Partially Recovered—Close Was Steady at Decline of 6 To 9 Points

New York, October 14.—While a sharp early break was partially recovered, the cotton market was generally unsettled today, owing to nervousness over the European political situation, and talk of a less active demand.

The close was steady, at a net decline of 6 to 9 points. The market opened barely steady, at a decline of 10 to 13, and soon declined 15 to 17 points under the closing prices of last Friday, in sympathy with weakness in Liverpool and on reports that the unsettled state of affairs abroad had led to heavy continental selling in the English markets. Wall Street houses were large sellers here and offerings were more or less general on this early break. Cotton was taken pretty well at the decline, and the market steadied up during the middle of the morning. Continued arbitrage buying helped to rally prices from the low point and there was also some support from trade sources, but the main factor appeared to be covering on the fear of unfavorable weather. Reports reached the trade that the Weather Bureau has ordered storm warnings for the East and Central Gulf coast, while the official forecast was for colder weather in the Western belt, with frost in parts of Texas and Oklahoma. Buying for the long account did not appear to broaden on the advance, and after working up to within four or five points of last night's closing figures, fluctuations again became irregular, but the demand from shorts proved sufficient to give the market a steady undertone late in the day, and last prices showed a recovery of from 9 to 10 points on active positions.

Spot, quiet. Middling uplands, 10.90; sales, 683 bales.

Saved By His Wife

She's a wise woman who knows just what to do when her husband's life is in danger, but Mrs. R. J. Flint, Braintree, Vt., is of that kind. "She insisted on my using Dr. King's New Discovery," writes Mr. F. "for a dreadful cough, when I was so weak my friends all thought I had only a short time to live, and it completely cured me. A quick cure for coughs and colds, it's the most safe and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—grip, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, tonsilitis, hemorrhages. A trial will convince you. 50 cents and $1. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

EUROPEAN SITUATION IMPROVES

As Result of Reports Indicating Peace Between Italy and Turkey. Dealings Large.

New York, Oct. 14.—The panicky conditions which prevailed all over Europe last Saturday, when a holiday was observed here, were greatly improved today, largely as a result of circumstantial reports indicating the early signing of a peace treaty between Italy and Turkey. All the continental exchanges, however, continued to show more or less apprehension.

Losses of 1 to 2 points were made at the opening here, the weakest issues, including Great Northern, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific and L. & N. United States Steel yielded a fraction less than a point on heavy dealings. The business of the first hour, approaching 300,000 shares, was the largest for that period in many months, but before midday it was evident that offerings had been well absorbed.

Not only were more losses retrieved, but in many instances, notably the Anthracite Coal shares, material gains were shown.

Trading dwindled to minor proportions in the afternoon with occasional spasms of hesitation. The list as a whole suggested a process of assimilation and short covering, with an irregular close. Last week's favorable bank statement was reflected in the relative ease of money today, but the uncertainty of the foreign situation and sharp rise of exchange arrested offerings.

The bond market ruled heavy with no especial feature. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,250,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales 589,300 shares.

BOILER EXPLOSION

Netro Fireman Killed at Sanford—At Ice Plant

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Sanford, N. C., Oct. 14.—Saturday evening the boiler of the Lee Ice & Fuel Company exploded severely scalding the negro fireman, Charlie McGilvary, who died from his injuries about noon Sunday. It is said that the fireman allowed the water to get too low in the boiler and on putting cold water in it, the boiler being hot, caused the explosion, the crown sheet blowing out. The fireman was immediately carried to the Central Carolina Hospital and physicians did everything in their power to save him but his burns extended over his entire body and it was impossible to save him.

at Progressive headquarters state that the bullet penetrated three inches of the abdominal wall and the wound is more serious than at first thought. This was shown by the X-ray photograph which has just been developed. Col. Roosevelt is still at the station in Milwaukee.

A special train will leave here in a few minutes with four surgeons.

On the Way to Chicago.

Milwaukee, Oct. 14.—Col. Roosevelt's special train left for Chicago at 12:50 A. M. As the train left the colonel said he would spend the night on the car and after remaining a few hours in Chicago would go to Indianapolis to fill a speaking engagement for tomorrow night.

Mrs. Roosevelt Hears the News.

New York, Oct. 14.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt was attending a musical comedy at a Broadway theatre tonight at the time the attempt was made upon her husband's life in Milwaukee. The news was broken to her as she sat in a box with a party of friends. In fear that the announcement of the attempted assassination might be made from the stage, George W. Perkins, chairman of the executive committee of the National Progressive party, dispatched a messenger to Mrs. Roosevelt. Although assurances were given in the first dispatches that the colonel had not been seriously wounded, Mrs. Roosevelt was alarmed and immediately left the theatre, driving to the headquarters of the National Progressive Committee in the Hotel Manhattan. Here she waited anxiously further details from Milwaukee.

Shortly after midnight Mrs. Roosevelt received a telegram which had evidently been dictated by her husband assuring her that he was in no danger and making light of the attempt on his life. The telegram read:

"I am now in the American hospital. The bullet did not hit anything vital and think they will find it somewhere around. It is not more serious than the injury the boys received. My voice is holding out well and I will go on with the trip. Don't worry. Love to all." (Signed)

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Mrs. Rosevelt probably will leave for Chicago tomorrow.

President Taft was at the banquet which the mayor was giving to the President when the news was communicated to him. It was evident that the report was a great blow to the President.

The President said to the newspaper men: "I am very sorry to learn of the assault upon Col. Roosevelt, and I am glad to learn that no harm is done."

Governor Wilson was at his home in Princeton, N. J., when newspaper men advised him of the attempt to kill the Progressive candidate for President.

"It is with the greatest distress that I hear this," said the Governor, "but I rejoice that Col. Roosevelt has apparently escaped serious injury."

Colonel Resting Quietly

On Roosevelt Special Train, Oct. 15.—Colonel Roosevelt was in bed resting quietly as the special train pulled out of Milwaukee for Chicago. He had taken some nourishment and said he felt at ease.

Wound Not Regarded as Serious

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Phillip Roosevelt, cousin of Colonel Roosevelt, wires that further examination of the X-Ray photograph indicates that the bullet did not penetrate the abdominal wall, but lodged in what is known as the bellywall. The wound is not regarded as serious.

No Cause for Alarm

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—The positive sctatement that Colonel Roosevelt was not injured seriously was made by Dr. Frederick A. Stratton, of Milwaukee, one of the physicians who examined the Colonel. Dr. Stratton said there was no cause for alarm as to the Colonel's condition.

Assassin a Fanatic.

A written proclamation found in the clothing of the man who did the shooting reads:

"September 15, 1901; 1:30 A. M.—In a dream I saw President McKinley sit up, in a monk's attire, in whom I recognized Theodore Roosevelt. The President said: 'This is my murderer. Avenge my death.'

"September 12, 1912; 1:30 A. M.—While writing a poem, some one tapped me on the shoulder and said: 'Let not a murderer take the Presidential chair. Avenge my death.'

"I could plainly see Mr. McKinley's features.

"Before the Almighty God, I swear this above writing is nothing but the truth."

Aonther note, found in the man's pockets read: "So long as Japan could rise to the greatest power of the world, despite her surviving a tradition more than 2,000 years old, as General Nogi so nobly demonstrated, it is the duty of the United States of America to uphold the third term tradition. Let every third-termer be regarded as a traitor to the American cause. Let it be the right and duty of every citizen to forcibly remove a third-termer. Never let a third-term party emblem appear on the official ballot.

"I am willing to die for my country. God has called me to be his instrument; so help me God.

(Signed) INNOCENT GUILTY."

Written in German:

Lives in New York.

New York, Oct. 14.—John Shrenk formerly lived at the address given in the Milwaukee dispatch. He is a laundryman who left here about a month ago. He has a wife and child here. The police are investigating his history.

New York, Oct. 14.—If every marine and sailor aboard the fleet now gathered in New York is not the owner of a Bible, it is not the fault of the churches. A committee of 120 young men and women during the past two days has visited every ship of the fleet, distributing 24,600 Bibles to members of the crews.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 14.—Plans were perfected today for the entertainment of delegates to the international convention of the Disciples of Christ, which begins tomorrow. An attendance of between 30,000 and 40,000 is expected, including delegates from Canada, Australia, Honolulu, Africa, Thibet and Japan.

THE BALKAN TROUBLE.

Some of the Causes Leading Up to the Present Difficulty.

London, Oct. 14.—Nominally the Balkan difficulty is the result of Bulgaria's, Servia's, Montenegro's and Greece's insistence on governmental reforms in Turkey's European provinces, in the face of Turkish unwillingness to grant them. Really it is due to the all-determination to partition the Sultan's European territories among themselves, despite the Ottoman's ruler objection to having them partitioned. It is true that the greater powers have warned the alliance that they will not permit it to profit territorially at Turkey's expense. The allies count, however, on keeping whatever they may get. The powers, they think, will be too jealous of one another to agree on any programme to the contrary.

This does not mean that reforms are not needed in European Turkey. The old Turkish regime was execrable. The new one, though better, is still very bad.

Even if the Turks had tried to rule justly, probably there would have been trouble. They are an alien Asiatic race. They conquered the people of the Balkans some hundreds of years ago.

The vanquished have been fighting to regain their liberty ever since.

The Turks, too, are Mohammedans. The Balkan races are Christian. On religious grounds they have always been bitter enemies.

Nationally the troubled provinces are hopelessly mixed. Of Bulgarians, Servians, Montenegrins and Greeks there are many more than there are of Turks. For years the different nationalities have fought among themselves, agreeing on nothing but their hatred of the Turks.

Finally, the people of the Balkans, diplomats and travelers who know them well agree, are generally more or less savages and as turbulent as the typical savage is supposed to be.

In one essential respect the Balkan allies have excellent ground for a bitter grievance. The powers and Turkey guaranteed autonomy to the provinces of European Turkey, in which the Balkan nations unquestionably have a deep and legitimate interest, by the famous treaty of Berlin, in 1878. No pretense has ever been made of fulfilling this agreement.

DEDICATE MASONIC HOME.

Masons From All Parts of State Gathering in Greensboro.

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 14.—Masons and members of the Grand Chapter Eastern Star from all sections of the State are arriving here today to participate tomorrow morning in exercises commemorating the completion of the Masonic and Eastern Star Home for aged and dependent Masons and their families. The progrom will begin tonight with rehearsal of parts in Masonic hall and a banquet tendered to visitors by local Masons and members of Eastern Star. The dedicatory exercises it is believed, will be attended by fully 700 Masons. The programme is brief, a feature being the dedicatory address by Past Grand Master Francis D. Winston, of Windsor.

Following the dedicatory exercises the members of the building committee will meet with architects and contractors and wind up all affairs incident to construction. The directors will also meet and elect a superintendent and adopt by-laws governing the conduct of the same. It is understood that the superintendent will be instructed to begin work immediately and that the doors will be opened to beneficiaries within two weeks.

The Home occupies a commanding position and view on a knoll which overlooks the Guilford College road and Pomona and in architectural design and conception it is commodious and beautiful. The rooms are large and airy and the appointments in every detail are made as homelike as possible. There is more than 300 feet of porch and balcony. Members of the building committee are being congratulated on all sides for the splendid service they have rendered and Masons throughout the State feel justly proud of the magnificent home they have provided for their aged and indigent members. Members of the building committee are W. B. McCoy, Wilmington; Dr. F. M. Winchester, Charlotte, and L. M. Clymer and J. J. Phoenix, Greensboro. Hook & Rogers, of Charlotte, were the architects.

POWERS NOT TO INTERVENE.

Turkish Government Declines to Allow It—Clash in Servia.

Constantinople, Oct. 14.—The Turkish government declines to allow the powers to intervene in the question of Macedonian reforms.

Its reply to the representatives of the powers was handed to the Austro-Hungarian ambassador here this morning. While thanking the European nations for all their friendly interest in the Balkan situation, which the Ottoman government recognizes, they have exercised in behalf of peace, the reply says that Turkey is determined to carry out the promised reforms but cannot tolerate any foreign interference.

Belgrade, Servia, Oct. 14.—A body of Turkish troops crossed the Servian border at Ristovatz, near Vrania, this morning and attacked the Servian garrison there, according to an official dispatch from the Servian general in command.

Fighting was still in progress when the message was dispatched.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 14.—The University of South Carolina was defeated in a football game here today by the University of Virginia by the score of 19 to 0. Virginia made all her points in the first half, but after that could do nothing. At no time during the game was Virginia's goal threatened.

contest in the recent primaries, according to Roger C. Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan said he knew of no money spent for aspirants to the Democratic Presidential nomination in the State, although he contributed $40,000 or $50,000 to the primary fund, to maintain control of the organization.

"You were the Democratic leader in Illinois?" asked Senator Oliver.

"Yes, you might call it that. When they are unfriendly, they call it a boss," the witness replied with a dry smile.

Mr. Sullivan said his contribution represented all of the money he spent on his side of the fight.

Financial activities of Thomas F. Ryan in the pre-convention campaign entered the committee and during the afternoon session McCombs was recalled to the stand.

"What candidate was Thomas F. Ryan for at the Baltimore convention?" he was asked.

"I have no means of knowing," he said. "He was against us. I don't know who he voted for, but it was my assumption that he was against Governor Wilson."

The much disputed Republican campaign fund of 1904 was the subject of a lengthy explanation of Alton B. Parker and George F. Parker. Judge Parker placed in the record extracts from his campaign speeches, in which he charged that the Republicans were backed by the "trusts, and corporations," referring specifically to a "committee", including James Stillman, of the Standard Oil group; Daniel G. Ried, of the Rock Island Railroad; Charles F. Brooker, of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad; Geo. W. Perkins, of the New York Life Insurance Company; Robert Bacon, of J. P. Morgan & Company; H. F. Frick and E. H. Harriman. He said information as to this "committee" came to him through the late Col. Daniel S. Lamont.

George F. Parker told the committee that Col. Lamont had told him of the organization of this committee during the campaign and that he prevailed on Col. Lamont to allow Judge Parker to make use of the information.

"I called on Col. Lamont often during the campaign at his office," said Mr. Parker, and he told me about this organization. When I went to see him he would say, 'Well, Parker, they had another meeting today.' On one occasion when I asked him what they had done, he said, 'They talked things over, and decided to go to work right away and raise all the funds available.'"

Mr. Parker said he was unable to persuade Col. Lamont to allow the use of his name as authority for the story.

Col. Lamont believed the use of his name might endanger his business interests," he said.

"All these men you have mentioned were Republicans, and might be expecte to support the Republican candidate, might they not?" asked Senator Oliver.

"The question was not their personal support, but whether they would throw the support of their corporations behind the Republican candidate," returned the witness.

EIGHT CONVICTS ESCAPE

Second Batch Broke Out of Wyoming State Penitentiary

Rawlings, Wyoming, Oct. 14.—When convicts in Wyoming's revolt-torn penitentiary were lined up for roll call late today, it was ascertained that only eight men escaped Sunday in the second bolt of convicts in two days. All last night a posse besieged a party of entrapped convicts in a canyon, believing five of them were hidden there, but it developed today but three are in the trap. Whereabouts of 11 of the 20 that escaped Saturday are not known.

The town is so wrought up over the escape of the men, some of them long termers and considered desperate, that a discharge of a quantity of dynamite near town today threw inhabitants into a panic. They believed prisoners blowing up the penitentiary. It developed city authorities were disposing of some explosives they did not need and could not sell.

Warden Alston refused to make a statement concerning the deliveries. While leading the pursuit of the men who escaped Saturday he was injured in the leg and spent some time in his room today nursing the limb. Late today, however, he resumed his search in the country. Governor Carey is expected to take charge of the situation here.

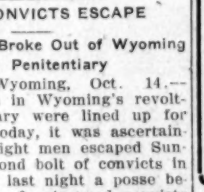
New York, Oct. 14.—Dr. Edward B. Foote, physician and author, is dead at his home here. He was a pioneer in the promotion of eugenics in this country and one of the first advocates of the teachings of sex hygiene in the public schools.

When Baby Has Croup

In any home where a child has a tendency to croup, a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce Hi-o-me) should be kept constantly on hand.

A sudden attack of croup with difficult breathing and extreme distress is apt to come on at any time.

The course to be pursued is plain. Send for your doctor at once, and in the mean time drop 20 drops of HYOMEI into a bowl of boiling water and hold the child's head over it, cover with a towel or cloth so that only the air filled with HYOMEI vapor is breathed.



This method of treatment has saved many a child's life, and mothers of croupy children should see to it that Booth's HYOMEI is always on hand. Full instructions for prompt relief of croup is in each package.

Booth's HYOMEI is made of Australian Eucalyptus and other antiseptics. Money returned if it does not give satisfaction in treatment of catarrh, coughs, colds, croup and catarrhal deafness. Ask R. R. Bellamy about it.

KILLED IN TONG WAR.

Two Chinese and Two White Men Die in Chinatown.

New York, Oct. 14.—Bullets flew in all directions in a Tong outbreak in Chinatown this afternoon, and before the fusillade had ended two Chinese and two white men lay dead, and another white man was mortally wounded. A half dozen others were struck, and less seriously injured, while a score were knocked down and trampled in the panic that accompanied the gun fire.

The reason for the outbreak is difficult to ascertain. That bad blood exists between the On Long and the Hip Sing societies, however, is a matter of common knowledge. This afternoon it boiled over when three Chinese were fired upon from an upper window of a house. As they ran, three other Chinese carrying revolvers popped out of a nearby doorway and began blazing away.

In an instant the quarter was seething. The zip, zip of the bullets continued to pelt men on all sides. Bullets cut the scalp of a white man crossing Pell street. A white hostler was shot through the leg. A bullet lodged in the foot of an Italian woman who limped away without a word. By the time police reserves arrived and quelled the rioting, four men lay dead and another dying in the street.

Of the two white men killed one was Max Rudain, a resident of a nearby foreign quarter, and the other an unidentified Italian. Max Kartman, a locksmith, is dying.

Chicago, Oct. 14. — Seventy-two dancing masters, operating as many dance halls, at a meeting last night voted to eliminate the "rag time" dance and its accompanying music. A motion that only the waltz and two-step be allowed hereafter was carried unanimously. Every section of Chicago was represented at the meeting. It was agreed that a notice of the discontinuance of "rag time" be posted in every hall.

A Penny and a Five-Dollar Gold Piece

Bear a distinct family resemblance in size, if not in relation of quality. Consequently if the gold piece is kept in close association with pennies it is likely to share the fate of being taken for one, or rather GIVEN for one, as happened not long ago with a friend of ours.

The lady paid the milkman, as she thought, fifteen cents, but in reality handed him fourteen pennies and the little gold piece, not discovering her error until the following day.
